A States' Rights Man's Lament

President Dwight D. Eisenhower sincerely regards himself as a states' rights man.

And, reportedly, he sometimes feels as if he is lonely in that position, having so few to keep him company.

This was behind his rather blunt talk to the governors of 45 states gathered at Williamsburg, Va., in annual convention. The presidential admonitions left them cold, but also frustrated.

Frustrated is a word defined as "making plans or efforts which are of no avail." In a round-table discussion after the President spoke, the governors sadly admitted there was little if anything they could do about it.

The President held out hope that a study commission might bring about a redistribution of functions and revenues which would lead to a reduction in the combined federal and state tax burden.

But having said this, the President minced no words. The federal government, he said, had invaded areas traditionally reserved for the states to meet emergency situations because the state didn't.

"In each instance," he said, "state inaction or inadequate action, coupled with undeniable national need, has forced emergency federal intervention."

This, of course, is quite true. And the governors squirmed under it, as they admitted in their round-table discussion.

Specific Examples

The President provided specific examples.

1. There is a grave shortage of classrooms to meet the expanding school population. These shortages are, he said, so "potentially dangerous" he felt impelled to recommend federal assistance because the states were not providing them.

2. Noting the rapid growth of cities, the President implied the states were falling short of their responsibilities in meeting problems brought on by urban growth. He remarked, with complete truth, that the mayors of cities were far more likely to seek help in Washington than in their state capitals. The state capitals too often are hostile to cities. Yet, the President said flatly that "unless action is prompt and effective, urban problems will soon almost defy solution. Metropolitan areas have ranged far beyond city boundaries but in every instance the centers and peripheries are interdependent for survival and growth."

3. Disasters of floods, drought, or storms find the state governments and mayors calling on Washington for help. And construction of state highways long ago was accepted, properly so, as a federal responsibility.

Round-Table

The state governors, in two round-table discussions, stated that while they would like to have less federal assistance the outlook was for more. They are right.

Unhappily, the doctrine of states' rights has been invoked so much in filibusters on civil rights bills that a great many persons think of them only in that connection.

But some states, because of natural resources, are wealthy and some not. The latter cannot, or do not, provide adequate schools or other services for their people. Shall the federal government allow two-thirds of the nation's children to have second-class opportunity?

Tech Head Is Praised By Regents

Dr. Edwin D. Harrison received the unanimous approval of the Board of Regents Wednesday as new president of Georgia Tech.

He will take over the post Aug. 15.

The 41-year-old dean of engineering at the University of Toledo also won enthusiastic praise from individual members of the board.

Chm. Robert O. Arnold of Covington called Harrison "one of the finest men I've ever met." Charles J. Bloch of Macon, chairman of the committee which elected the new president, said "News of other actions by the regents on Page 17."

he was sure Harrison was the man to keep Tech in "its place of pre-eminence."

The presidency has been vacant since the death of Col. Blake R. Van Leer in January 1956.

The new head of Tech said he doubts he will be able to move to Atlanta until mid-August. He said he has "a house to sell and a job to clean up." In addition, he has arranged for some active duty time as a member of the Naval Reserve.

Harrison is married to the former Dorothy Estelle Manyon. They have two sons, Robert and Richard.

Both Arnold and Bloch expressed gratitude that the Tech faculty had shown "patience" during the interregnum. They praised the work of Dr. Paul Weber as acting president.

Hurricane Due To Bring City A Wet Smack

Hurricane Audrey's 100-m.p.h. force may propel heavy rains into the northwest portion of Georgia, including Atlanta and vicinity, by Friday night, the Atlanta Weather Bureau said.

Extensive cloudiness and warmish weather, with scattered thundershowers, are forecast for the Atlanta area Thursday. The outlook for Friday calls for occasional showers reflecting the heavy rains expected in the Gulf Coast storm area.

The weatherman predicted a high of 87 degrees and a low of 68 Thursday, with high-low readings Friday forecast at 86 and 70. Temperature extremes in Atlanta Wednesday were 87 and 67.

TRAPPED 14 HOURS BY CAVE-IN

Hole Drilled in Hill Rescues 5 Miners

By ARTHUR A. PARKS
STUEBENVILLE, Ohio, June 26 (AP)—Five veteran coal miners were freed tonight from a tomb of rocks and dirt in a hillside tunnel.

Two-score rescue workers and a great mechanical monster bored 200 feet to reach them after 14½ hours of imprisonment.

A cheer rose from nearly 1,000 spectators in the flood-lit strip mine pit as the miners crawled out the rescue shaft behind a huge auger.

'IT WAS COLD'

"My God, it was cold in there," said Fred Sabol, 33, Harrisville, the first one out.

Doctors pronounced the miners in perfect health. All were allowed to go home.

Hank Horvath, 35, Glenn Robbins, said he was the only one of the five who had given up hope. All the others were confident they would be rescued, he said.

Martin Kovalski, 40, Mount Pleasant, said, "I just prayed. I knew you guys would reach me."

The others are Joseph Supinski, 47, Mount Pleasant, and Kenny Hamilton, 38, Adena.

WALLS CRUMBLING

They were trapped at 8:15 a.m. today in Betsy Mine No. 3 of the Powhatan Mining Co., at Fernwood, about seven miles southwest of Steubenville.

The mine shaft is at the base of a 50-foot-deep pit at the edge of a 100-foot high cliff.

While the men were in the tunnel, the walls and ceiling crumbled for about 60 feet near the entrance.

Robert Davis, 27, of Cadiz, one of several miners who escaped, said, "I heard the timbers cracking and the earth squeeze. I turned and ran."

Hurricane Due To Hit Louisiana

Expected Today; Thousands Flee

NEW ORLEANS, June 26 (UP)—Tides and winds mounted along the Louisiana and east Texas coasts tonight and thousands of persons fled inland to escape the fury of Audrey, a 100-mile an hour hurricane due to strike land by nightfall tomorrow.

One person drowned at Galveston, Tex., as the storm neared the coast.

ENTIRE COASTLINE

At 11 p.m. E.S.T., the Weather Bureau extended hurricane warnings, already covering the entire coastline of Louisiana, to include a 40-mile stretch of the upper Texas shore—southward to High Island. Storm warnings which had flown as far away as Pensacola, Fla., were lowered east of Louisiana, removing the threat to a broad expanse of the coast.

(In Atlanta, the Red Cross announced Wednesday afternoon that 23 staff members have been sent to threatened areas.)

The hurricane center was located at 10 p.m. about 235 miles south of Lake Charles, La., and it was moving northward at 10 miles an hour.

WINDS MOUNT

"Winds are increasing along the upper Texas and Louisiana coasts and will reach gale force tonight and early Thursday," the Weather Bureau said.

The bureau said the area from High Island to Morgan City, La., "is expected to hear the brunt of this hurricane Thursday."

Hurricane Audrey's first victim was Lamar Lleser, 23, of Chatfield, Tex., who was sucked under and drowned by an undertow as he fished in the Gulf at Stewart's Beach near Galveston.

VACATIONISTS WARNED

Mass evacuation of Bolivar Peninsula, which separates Galveston Bay from the Gulf, was begun tonight. Civil defense workers went from beach house to beach house on the pleasure island warning vacationists to get out. Wind gusts up to 44 miles an hour were reported at Galveston.

Evacuations continued along the Louisiana coast, although the Weather Bureau said the danger to eastern Louisiana had lessened.

Williams Has A Talk With Talmadge

By WILLIAM M. BATES
Revenue Commissioner T. V. Williams has conferred with Sen. Talmadge in Washington presumably about Williams' prospective candidacy for governor, it was learned Wednesday.

Talmadge confirmed rumors that Williams had made a flying trip to the nation's capital Tuesday afternoon to see him.

The senator declined to say what was discussed between the two, but said Williams had sought the conference. Williams had "no comment" on questions about the meeting.

It appeared certain, however, that politics figured in the meeting. Talmadge is known to favor Lt. Gov. Ernest Vandiver for governor in next year's primary.

The significance, if any, of the Washington meeting was to underscore the seriousness of Williams' political aspirations.

He has been dropping stronger and stronger hints for days that he will probably resign at the end of this week to become eligible to enter next year's gubernatorial scramble.

So has another high-ranking

Intimidation Probe Hears Hartsfield

By RICHARD ASHWORTH
The Fulton County Grand Jury heard from six witnesses Wednesday—among them Mayor William B. Hartsfield—as it continued to investigate a reported attempt to intimidate grand jurors.

Hartsfield, who made the longest appearance before the jury, told reporters afterwards that he had "no personal knowledge of anyone anywhere in the city government attempting to intimidate the grand jury."

There was no indication of whether the jury will continue the probe Thursday.

The jury Wednesday also continued trying to find out about the disposition of cases which police booked after raiding a Negro "dive" in February of 1956, it was learned.

WITNESSES

Other witnesses called before the jury Wednesday were Municipal Court Judge Luke Arnold, Managing Editor William Fields, City Editor Howell Jones and Reporter Jack Nelson of The Constitution, and Police Chief Herbert Jenkins.

Jenkins left with the jury a report of a police investigation of a hotel room incident allegedly involving a grand juror's son. The report was filed on the general complaint board at police headquarters. Jenkins told reporters Wednesday, however, they could have seen the report had they asked for it.

The incident occurred last Feb. 13. The report, which Jenkins made available to reporters after his grand jury appearance, was dated Feb. 13 and Feb. 22 respectively.

TIME LAPSE

Asked to explain the lapse of time between the incident and the investigation, Jenkins said his investigation was prompted after he heard rumors circulated about the Capitol.

The hotel room incident was the subject of an intimidation threat by an unnamed city official reported by July Foreman S. L. Brooks on Monday.

The chief said he brought the police report to the jury at their request and left it with them. Asked if he was questioned about the intimidation report, Jenkins said he was interrogated about his investigation of the hotel room incident and about the disposition of the "dive" cases.

Cobb Reservoir Drained by Leak

Constitution State News Service
MARIETTA, June 26—A 20-million-gallon reservoir ran dry Wednesday on lower Roswell road east of Marietta.

A small leak wore through one side of the reservoir, county officials said, and within seconds the storage water was gone.

No water shortage was expected to result. An emergency pump will be used to pump water directly to a water treatment plant from the Chattahoochee River, thus eliminating use of the reservoir.

Nickerson Witness Hits Army Policy

By RUSSELL PORTER
(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)
HUNTSVILLE, Ala., June 26—Dr. Werner Von Braun, head of the Army's "team" of scientists at this highly secret rocket and missile center, today criticized the Army's security policy as too strict. He said it was so strict it actually impeded national security.

Testifying as a defense witness at the Army court martial of Col. John C. Nickerson Jr., Dr. Von Braun said Army security had resulted in withholding of information needed by the public and Congress to enable them to support development of new weapons.

He said the Air Force and Navy have been smarter, have told the public more, have got more money and have got priority for their programs. He asserted that the Army's Jupiter is far superior to the Air Force's Thor but the Defense Department had taken operational use of the Jupiter away from the Army and given it to the Air Force.

FEUD STARTED THINGS

It was the Army-Air Force feud over the Jupiter and Thor, both intermediate range (1,500-mile) ballistic missiles, that led to the Nickerson court martial.

Colonel Nickerson, 41-year-old missile expert and war hero, pleaded guilty yesterday to violating Army security regulations. He admitted failing to safeguard defense missile information he kept in his home and leaking it to persons not cleared to receive it. Earlier yesterday the Army had withdrawn a more serious charge involving espionage and perjury.

FOUND GUILTY

The court found him guilty of the lesser charge. It then began taking defense testimony in extenuation and mitigation presented in the hope of lightening the sentence which is yet to be imposed.

Allies Back Stassen Plan To Mothball

By DREW MIDDLETON
(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)

LONDON, June 26—The United States proposed today a reduction of non-nuclear weapons through listing, sequestration and eventual disposal of substantial quantities of such arms.

Harold E. Stassen, chief of the U.S. delegation, presented the United Nations subcommittee on disarmaments with a detailed and complicated plan for reducing the weapons strength of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France.

AN ADVANCE?

Members of the U.S. delegation believed at the end of the meeting that Valerian A. Zorin, Soviet representative, had agreed in principle. They thought a solid advance had been made.

Other Western delegations were not optimistic about the Soviet position.

The U.S. proposal is that each of the four powers hand the committee lists of its weapons. These lists are to include "substantial amounts of specific quantities of identified types, significant in kind and of post-World-War-Two manufacture."

STEP TO TREATY

The listing of naval craft is to be confined to those vessels in current military operation. This specifically excludes, an American official said, those ships now in mothballs. The contents of these lists would be negotiated within the subcommittee. Once the lists were agreed to by the committee they would form an annex to a "first step" disarmament treaty that would be submitted to the Senate for approval.

Once the lists had been agreed to by the negotiating powers, the arms named in them would be placed in disarmament depots located on American, Russian, British and French national territory. These depots would be

Girl, 6, Drowns In Sample Pool On Blackland Rd.

A 6-year-old girl drowned Wednesday evening at a sample pool at a swimming pool contractor's office on Blackland road, NW, police said.

The child, identified as Mary Palmer, 3700 Powers Ferry Rd., NW, was pronounced dead at 5:15 p.m.

Neighbors told police the girl had been playing at the pool off and on throughout the day. James Rapp, 12, saw her lying on the bottom of the pool. Robert Copeland, 32, a Negro workman, pulled her out.

Fire Department efforts to revive the girl were unsuccessful.

Ike Says Price Control Socialism, Vows No Lid

By ED CREAUGH
WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower today called the upward trend of prices "alarming" but ruled out any new government controls to halt it.

The President told a news conference that to impose rigid wage and price controls in peacetime would lend weight to a recent forecast by Soviet Communist boss Nikita S. Khrushchev that this country is heading toward socialism.

"And I am not going to be a party to it," Eisenhower declared. He said it is up to both business and labor to exercise "statesmanship"—to forego uncalled-for price and wage increases—and for government to practice "sound, sane policies." Otherwise, he said, "there is real danger of inflation."

Eisenhower made these emphatic comments to 215 reporters in the course of answering questions which ranged from the hydrogen bomb to the civil rights controversy.

Mexican Bandits Kill 40 in Raid

PACHUCA, Mexico, June 26 (AP)—Bandits rode into the remote mountain town of San Lorenzo Achotepec late Sunday and shot it up. Reports reaching this Hidalgo State capital today said they killed 40 persons, including children and aged, and wounded others. The motive for the raid was not known.

The rescue workers worked all day under a broiling sun, while wives and children of the trapped men stood watching.

In midafternoon one shaft through which the rescuers were blowing air eased in, and they moved the fans to another channel.

Helicopter Saves 2 Waycross Men After 31 Hours in Shark-Filled Sea

FERNANDINA BEACH, Fla., June 26 (AP)—Two men were rescued from the Atlantic Ocean today after a 31-hour ordeal of battling sharks and stormy seas with waning strength. A companion still is missing.

"The Lord was with us," said one of the survivors, Raymond Smith, 21, of Waycross, Ga.

A Navy helicopter plucked Smith and John Thomas, 32, also of Waycross, from heavy seas 20 miles off Fernandina Beach about 4 p.m. They were with their capsize 18-foot cabin cruiser.

Until he was thrown into the ocean, Smith had never learned to swim.

"I swam," he said at a Brunswick hospital where his condition was described as fair. He was being treated for exposure and shock.

Thomas, who could swim, said he told Smith: "Let's be calm. We'll come out of this if we trust the Lord."

Thomas, a postal worker, was given first-aid treatment and dismissed from the hospital.

The men said sharks appeared shortly after they were hurled into the sea and circled them throughout their long wait for help.

Smith, a life insurance agent, said one shark made a pass at him, "but I kicked him off with my shoe."

later their small boat capsized when a bow anchor line hooked onto the stern during a swell.

The men then were only some 150 feet from a sea buoy located eight miles from Fernandina harbor. Crews were wearing a life jacket, the survivors related, and waved that he was heading for the buoy.

That was the last they saw of crews.

The men said rain poured down in sheets all day yesterday.

Only a small portion of the boat was above water and the men took turns balancing on the keel to keep air trapped in the craft so it would float. They also used inner tubes which they managed to get from the overturned boat.

Keep Taxes Up To Curb Inflation, Panel Urges

(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)
WASHINGTON, June 26—A joint congressional subcommittee recommended unanimously today that the government maintain tight money and resist tax cuts, as the best way to counter the inflation threat.

The five-man subcommittee of the Joint Economic Committee was headed by Rep. Mills (D-Ark.). It had held seven days of hearings in which 35 private economists and government officials had been heard.

HUMPHREY WARNS

The overwhelming majority of the witnesses had urged the course that the subcommittee recommended.

Secretary of Treasury Humphrey, continuing his appearance today before the Senate Finance Committee, said it was "idle" to suppose that the country could live continuously and safely with "creeping" inflation, such as has characterized the last 15 months. The inflation "will get beyond you," he said, if an effort is made "to go on being just a little inflated."

Mills also is ranking Democratic member of the Ways and Means Committee. Another signer of the report was Sen. Douglas of Illinois, a liberal Democrat and a member of the finance committee.

COST-PRICE PUSH

The Joint Economic Subcommittee said it recognized that "present inflationary pressures are frequently attributed to the so-called cost-price push, as distinct from the traditional inflation resulting from excessive demand."

But it argued that, nonetheless, in current conditions "public policies to cope with increases in the price level must take the form of general fiscal and monetary restraints on the expansion of total spending."

Fiscal restraint means taxes high enough to create a surplus in the budget. Monetary restraint

Governors Ask Lower Bond Rates

Illinois' Stratton Named Chairman

By JACK BELL
WILLIAMSBURG, Va., June 26.—The nation's governors called on President Eisenhower and Congress today to take action to lower interest rates on billions of dollars worth of state, school and local bonds.

Winding up their 49th annual conference, the governors elected Gov. William G. Stratton (D-Ill.) as their chairman, succeeding Gov. Thomas B. Stanley (D-Va.). They voted to hold next year's conference in Florida.

RESOLUTIONS

In the conference's closing session, the governors whipped out a series of resolutions. One of these met President Eisenhower's personally delivered request for appointment of representatives for a task force to survey the possibility of a rollback of federal government functions to the states.

But in a surprising action the governors also endorsed what amounted to an attack on the Eisenhower administration's "tight money" policy. Democrats have made it clear they intend to make this policy one of the chief issues of next year's campaign for control of Congress.

Although conference actions were taken in closed session, all the Republican governors went along with a statement suggesting Eisenhower and Congress take some action toward "alleviating" the burden of high interest rates. Gov. George Leader (D-Pa.) drafted the statement.

The final number signing was 32. Among them was Gov. Griffin of Georgia.

ACCELERATED NEEDS

"These accelerated needs for funds have resulted in the issuance of billions of dollars in bonds," the resolution said. "These bonds have been floated at higher and higher interest rates, thus increasing amortization costs."

"Therefore, the 49th annual meeting of the governors' conference suggests that the President of the United States and the Congress take cognizance of this additional burden on the taxpayers of America with a view to alleviating this burden."

Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan said in commenting on the resolution he felt "the governors are certainly fed up with the administration's tight money policies." All the conference resolutions were approved unanimously without recorded votes.

HODGES' COMMITTEE

In another rebuff to the Eisenhower administration, the conference's resolutions committee, headed by Democratic Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina, killed all proposals for a conference stand on the President's proposed school construction aid program.

Hodges had said previously the committee had before it resolutions "both for and against" the program.

In agreeing to work with Eisenhower toward returning some of Washington's programs to state control, the governors authorized Stratton to appoint a special committee "to work with appropriate federal officials appointed by the President" toward "attaining a sound relationship of functions and finances between the federal government and the states and to formulate definite proposals to these ends."

This Barber Gets 'the Works', Is Clipped for Shear Delight

UNION CITY, N.J., June 26.—Barber Jerry Provitera reminisced today about a clipping he took recently. A man came into his shop and asked for and got "the works"—namely, a haircut, shave, and shampoo. After stepping down from the chair, the man turned to a youngster waiting his turn, and said, "Wait here for me after you get your haircut." Then the man walked out of the shop. Provitera said he didn't press for immediate payment, considering the boy suitable security. He gave the lad a haircut. Finishing up, he asked the boy, "Where's your father?" The boy burst into tears and said, "That man isn't my father. He met me on the street and said I needed a haircut. I don't have any money." Provitera dried the boy's tears and sent him home.

Chou Reveals Vast Purge Of 'Counterrevolutionaries'

By JOHN RODERICK

HONG KONG, June 26.—Premier Chou En-lai told Red China's Parliament today of a vast three-year purge of "counterrevolutionaries" and warned critics to behave.

In a 30,000-word address, Chou accused the United States of preparing for war, heaped praise on the Soviet Union, and depicted the Communist camp's unity as stronger than before the Hungarian revolution.

Chou

The speech came at the height of a "rectification" campaign which has stirred rumors of a split between Peiping and Moscow and also loosed a torrent of criticism upon the Peiping regime from sources the Communist press calls "rightist."

Chou said a purge of "counterrevolutionaries" after the Communists seized power in 1949 brought execution to 16.2 per cent of the accused—about 1 in 6 of them—by 1952.

This disclosure could be read as a warning to "rightists" who were encouraged to criticize in Chairman Mao Tse-tung's Feb. 27 speech admitting internal "contradictions."

CHOU NOTED

Chou noted that "remnant counterrevolutionary forces" remain in Red China. He announced the purge sentenced 42.3 per cent of those captured to "reform through labor," placed 32 per cent under surveillance, and eventually freed 48.9 per cent "after some re-education."

Chou did not specify how many were arrested, imprisoned or executed. A statement attributed previously to Mao, but unconfirmed, put the executions at 800,000.

Chou said "public apologies must be made to those who are unfairly treated" during the big purge. The Red leadership has been under heavy criticism from members of Red China's eight non-Communist parties for injustices.

"Only this system has and can continue to insure the victory of socialist communism," Chou said.

The people, said Chou, must exercise their power through "democratic centralism." This is a Leninist concept which means that after discussion the party makes a decision which is binding upon all.

Graham Says Crusade Has Set Garden Record

43rd Night Brings Total to 739,100; 85 Pct. There Prove New Yorkers

NEW YORK, June 26.—Evangelist Billy Graham announced tonight that his crusade in Madison Square Garden has lasted longer and drawn larger audiences than any other attraction in the Garden's 30-year-old history.

"Everyone said that it couldn't be done," Graham told tonight's audience of 16,500. "But the Lord has worked, and all these predictions have proven false."

Those attending tonight's service brought to 739,100 the number of persons who have heard Graham during the 43 nights of his New York crusade. He said the previous record was set by the circus, which once did a 40-day stand in the Garden.

Graham also took issue with reports that most of the people attending his New York sermons were from out of town. He asked all those who were from New York City to stand. About 85 per cent stood.

The North Carolina preacher announced he would hold an outdoor rally in Harlem next Sunday at 5 p.m. The rally will be held at the corner of the Salem Methodist Church in the predominantly Negro section. It will be sponsored by the Heart of Harlem Neighborhood Church Assn.

In announcing that his crusade had topped previous Garden records, Graham said, "prayers all over the world have done it." He said the crusade received 60,000 pieces of mail from all over the world today alone.

During his sermon on "Memory," Graham asked his audience "How many of you men have forgotten your marriage vows? To make a vow or promise to God as you do in marriage is a serious thing. It is something you may forget. But God never forgets it."

"Every wrong thing you do, every lie you tell, every one of your immoral acts you pay for. God will dig it out. You can cover the tracks of your sins, but God can trace them better than a blood hound."

Responding to Graham's call to make their "decisions for Christ," 539 persons went forward. It brought to 23,857 the number who have done so. During the New York crusade.

Weather Reports From the Moon In 15 Years Promised by Russian

By MAX FRANKEL

(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)
MOSCOW, June 26.—A Soviet scientist predicted today that the Soviet Union would send the first radio-guided reconnaissance rocket to the moon in the early 1960's.

Within five or 10 years thereafter, he said, scientists will establish on the moon a permanent scientific station manned by human beings.

He predicted further that an unmanned roving laboratory would be sent to Mars between 1965 and 1971 and that five rockets would be sent to observe the planet Venus.

This schedule for cosmic experiments and travel was put forth by U. S. Khebtsevich, chairman of a technical committee in charge of radio and television guidance of rockets.

He wrote in the youth paper Komsomolskaya Pravda with reasonable confidence in his timetable even though other Soviet scientists have been unwilling thus far to set a date for the launching of their artificial earth satellite, sometime during the next 18 months.

Khebtsevich also expressed confidence that the Moscow television center, which is not yet part of any national network in the Soviet Union, would "very soon" use the moon to relay its broadcasts to "half the world."

The scientist's main concern seemed to be with other cosmic experts who are suggesting the eventual launching of unguided rockets into space. Khebtsevich insisted that radio and television guidance would guarantee a rocket's arrival on the moon and planets and save untold expense despite the much heavier load of equipment. But he did not confine himself to this dispute.

The radio-TV guided rockets will be sent aloft, he said, without waiting for the construction of a passenger-carrying artificial satellite. Earth-moon-earth flights, he declared, will be an "ordinary matter" by the end of the century.

OTHER "NEW CITIZEN" EMBRACES PARENTS
Capt. and Mrs. C. J. McAllister with Ruth Lynn, Their Japanese-American Daughter After Naturalization Ceremony

New Citizen Bombed, Wed by Decatur Man

By GENE BRITTON

A federal judge Wednesday wrote a new chapter to the ironic lives of Ingeborg and Jack Smith—a Decatur couple who took the entreaty "love thine enemy" literally. U.S. District Judge Frank A. Hoover signed an application for naturalization for Mrs. Smith and 88 other aliens who Wednesday became citizens of the United States.

Mrs. Smith was Ingeborg Blumenau on Sunday, March 19, 1945. Her father, Heinrich Blumenau, owned two leather goods stores in Berlin, which by nightfall of that Sunday had been completely destroyed.

BOYBOMBERS

American bombers came suddenly and struck swiftly. The Blumenaus' stores were demolished and Ingeborg's father was badly burned. Ingeborg herself managed to escape injury.

On that Sunday, a young second lieutenant from Decatur, Jack B. Smith, had been one of the navigators that led the American bombers on their raid of Berlin—and on the Blumenau leather shops.

Peace came, Jack returned to Decatur where he became interested in politics, and Ingeborg was visiting here on a visa when they met through a mutual friend.

MARRIED

They became engaged and were married July 29, 1945, despite the fact that, by comparing notes, they learned their paths had crossed earlier under much less happy conditions.

They live at 2386 Keheley Dr., Decatur. Jack is an assistant solicitor at DeKalb Superior Court. Ingeborg is legal secretary in the office of Attorney General Eugene Cook.

Commenting on his wife's becoming a citizen, Jack laughed. "It's especially important to me."

Late Worker, 13, Is Shot By Policeman

A 13-year-old Negro was shot by a policeman who had mistaken him for a burglar while he was working inside a Lee Street, S.W., Grocery store at 2:50 a.m. Wednesday.

Released after treatment at Grady Hospital was Boyd Cantrell of 829 West End Ave., S.W. Doctors said the bullet struck the left side of the boy's neck but did not penetrate.

Patrolman J. L. Morrow said he was investigating a reported burglary at the store at 393 Lee St., S.W., when he saw the youth behind the meat counter apparently trying to open the cash register. He said he fired a single shot through the front plate glass window.

After he fired, Patrolman Morrow said store operator J. R. Tolbert appeared from the rear of the store and told him that he and the youth had been working late.

Sgt. D. H. Riley, who investigated the shooting, said James McWilliams, a clerk in a grocery store at 507 Lee St., S.W., called police after he was told by an unidentified Negro that he had seen burglars ducking behind the counter at the store at 393 Lee St.

Plagued Day And Night with Bladder Discomfort?

Such a common thing as unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-excitation, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills have three outstanding advantages—act in three ways for your speedy return to comfort. 1—They have an easing soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. So, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Ask for new, large, economy size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

Too Early To Talk of City Race, Brown Says

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Indications Wednesday were that any city contests in the Dec. 4 general election will not come to a head until around October. Charlie Brown, Fulton County senator, who is being urged to oppose Mayor Hartsfield, said "it is much too early to be talking about a race in December."

In the meantime, Hartsfield leveled a blast at the effort to "draft" Brown. He also said he is not surprised "that Brown covets the mayor's office at any price."

Brown, commenting on reports of a contest in the general election, said persons who never before supported him are urging him to become a candidate. Hartsfield won nomination for a new four-year term in the May 8 city primary. He defeated Brown for the office in 1949 and again in 1953.

Brown predicted that even if he does not run, some strong, capable candidate will almost surely oppose Hartsfield in the general election.

Under existing laws, a candidate must file a petition carrying two per cent of the names of the last available registration list at least 30 days before a general election to get his name on the ballot. Officials agreed Tuesday that the latest available registration list would be the one used in the May 8 primary in which Hartsfield won his nomination.

A petition carrying the names of 2,492 of the registered voters would be required to get the name of a candidate on the ballot in any of the posts to be filled. Brown's friends claimed a list now in cir-ulation has more than twice that number already.

Hartsfield said Brown has been a chronic candidate for mayor for 10 years.

"However, it is surprising that he would allow himself to be the candidate of Grand Dragon Edwards of the Ku Klux Klan and the posts to be filled. Brown's Roy Harris of the Augusta Cour-

2 Thomaston Girls
At Home in the City

By MARJORY RUTHERFORD

"A WOMAN who makes a match for her daughter," says Atlanta Lionses, "usually intends to referee it as well."

DO YOU THINK of the big city as a scary place where you're likely to get lost often and spend weeks pounding the pavements before you land your first job?

Two wide-eyed high school graduates from Thomaston had just that picture of Atlanta.

Phyllis Skelton, 16, and Mary Waller, 18, packed their Robert E. Lee High diplomas with beating hearts.

They were determined to get jobs and find a place to live in Atlanta—no matter how long it took.

The girls landed in Atlanta one night last week, went job-hunting the next day. In between job interviews they made a telephone call or two about a place to live.

Phyllis and Mary compared notes at the end of the day, found they both had clerical jobs at the same place and a room together at 406 Amsterdam Ave. N.E.

"The folks back in Thomaston could hardly believe it," reported Phyllis. "All that in one day."

"We beat the clock," added Mary, right, displaying it here for Photographer Edna Weston. "Now I guess we start punching it."

DEFINITION of "child psychology," courtesy North-side Optimist: "The art of applying a soft pedal instead of a hard paddle."

MIKE TODD JR., in Atlanta this week to beat the drums for his father's movie, "Around the World in 80 Days," patiently answered repeated questions about how it feels to have Elizabeth Taylor for a mother-in-law. And when somebody told him he looked younger than his 28 years, he grinned: "It's the least I can do for Dad!"

Term Given
In Stoning of Negro Home

A 51-year-old white man was ordered to serve six months in jail Wednesday after a court was told he threw a rock—and paid to have another thrown—into the home of a Negro who moved into a white neighborhood.

Police said one of the rocks bore a note which carried the message:

"There will be dynamite next."

Judge J. Everett Thrift of Fulton Criminal Court found Basile L. Griggs of 343 Central Ave., S.W., guilty on charges of malicious mischief and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Griggs was sentenced to 12 months on the delinquency charge and ordered him to serve six months of that term, with the rest suspended. A note on the 12-month term—with all of it suspended—was assessed on the other charge.

One accusation said Griggs contributed to the delinquency of a minor by paying him to throw a rock through the window of a house at 346 Central Ave., S.W., on May 11.

The malicious mischief accusation held that another rock was thrown through the window May 15, hearing the cryptic note.

Investigating officers said white families lived on both sides of the Central Avenue address when the Negro family moved in. They said that when one of the rocks was thrown through a window, the Negro tenant became frightened and fired a gun out the window.

Court officials said after the trial that an examination of Griggs' police record caused them to hold him for investigation on another charge. The record shows Griggs was convicted Jan. 7, 1943, on a charge of fornication and adultery and given six months in prison, and that he escaped from prison May 8, 1943, and was never apprehended.

Woman Is Found
Dead in Tower

An inquest will be held into the death of a 38-year-old woman who died in a cell at Fulton Tower Wednesday, Chief Jailor Carl Smithwick said.

The woman, identified as Mrs. Allene Broxton of 574 Boulevard, N.E., was found dead shortly after noon Wednesday, Smithwick said. He added that a physician had examined the woman about two hours before her death.

Smithwick said she had been jailed on a vagrancy and delinquent charge. He said he had been unable to locate any relatives.

City Refuses
To Close Up
Negro Clubs

The aldermanic board's Police Committee Wednesday night refused to revoke operating permits of two Negro service clubs on gambling charges for lack of sufficient evidence.

Action came after defense attorneys charged the Fulton County grand jury demanded evocation after Negro leaders in the clubs refused to accuse Atlanta police officers of accepting bribes.

William L. Gower and Dan Duke, defending Amvets Post 619 at 906 Hunter street, S.W., and VFW Post 7612 at 82 Piedmont avenue, N.E., charged that investigators for the county attempted to get principals to charge that Lts. I. A. Thomas and Clyde Hamby and Capt. J. L. Mosley accepted money to permit the clubs to operate or to get operating permits.

DEMAND

They complained that when the Negroes refused the grand jury demanded the clubs be closed.

Both attorneys contended the clubs should have been indicted if they violated the law. They cited what they contended were good records, including no complaint against the VFW club since it opened in 1943, and told the committee not to let "them put the monkey on your back."

Thomas said when he investigated the two places he found cards, money sacks, poker chips, pistols and bingo paraphernalia, but that it was all locked up and not in use at the time. He also testified that there were three game tables, an amplifying system, some liquors, and a buzzer warning system at the Amvets location.

Duke and Gower contended gaming could be found at any club, white or Negro. They urged that Negroes be allowed recreation as well as others.

STOCKHOLDERS

In another development at the committee meeting, minority stockholders in Atlanta Veterans Transportation, Inc., urged that the operating permit of the firm be revoked for alleged violation of laws.

Associate City Atty. Hendy Bowden was instructed to review the charges against Veterans Cabs and to make recommendations at the next committee session. Three minority stockholders, among other things charged the company with short-changing the city mileage payments and the state on sales tax payments, with allowing drivers to work more than 12 hours in 24 in violation of a city ordinance, and with lack of sufficient insurance coverage to protect the public.

Don H. Wyant, of the law firm of Crenshaw, Hansell, Ware and Brandon, said he would file an answer to the complaints with Bowden this week. He said the company intends to comply with

Boy, 14, Saves Friend
Stricken During Swim

A 14-year-old boy rescued a 17-year-old friend who suffered a seizure while swimming in Piedmont Park's large pool Wednesday.

The near-drowning victim was Emory Connell of 1249 University Dr., N.E., who was pulled to safety by Tommy White of 1380 Loraine Dr., S.E., who in turn was helped by park life guard Elmer Lyons.

Lyons revived Connell before the arrival of a Grady Hospital ambulance.

All laws, pay its debts, and protect the riding public.

Ald John T. Marler secured approval of an application by the Citizens and Southern National bank to build an $1,000,000 parking garage at the northeast intersection of Broad and Marietta streets.

In other actions the committee: 1. Recommended adoption of a new ordinance tightening up on measures by requiring character references.

2. Proposed new requirements for taxi cabs and cars for hire demanding a $25,000 cash bond for smaller accidents, insurance to begin at $25,000 level and extend to $100,000 for each person injured in an accident and limited to $300,000 liability for any one accident.

3. Voted to hold future meetings in the air-conditioned new traffic court building at Trinity and Central avenues, just behind the city hall.

GEORGIA NEWS ROUNDUP

Tobacco Group To Fight
July 25 Marketing Date

The Legislative Tobacco Advisory Committee is expected to oppose violently the July 25 opening date of the Georgia flue-cured market, a spokesman said Wednesday.

The July 25 date was recommended Tuesday by the Bright Belt Warehouse Assn. meeting in Myrtle Beach, S.C.

The spokesman, who asked not to be named, said that the committee will attempt to hold a meeting in the state either Friday or Monday to recommend that the opening date be changed to July 18.

The group is expected to urge Phil Campbell, commissioner of agriculture, to withhold operating licenses for Georgia warehouses unless the opening date is changed, the official said.

He said the group wants the earlier opening date in order to avoid block sales.

The law creating the Tobacco Advisory Committee in Georgia gives the commissioner of agriculture the power to override the Bright Belt Warehouse Assn. on the opening date if the advisory committee asks and the majority of the farmers desire it.

Green-Collared Monkey Invades
Coops, Hurls Eggs at Pursuers

A monkey who invades a backyard chicken coop amuses himself by breaking from 12 to 15 eggs a day, according to a bewildered Atlanta couple.

The W. W. Phillips, of 1365 Eastland Rd., S.E., have been victimized by an unwanted monkey who showed up at their residence a month ago and developed the habit of breaking eggs. The small, gray monkey with a silver-studded green collar throws eggs at the Phillips' chickens. Other times, when someone is chasing him, the monkey runs into the henhouse for a supply of eggs and hurls them at his pursuers.

As of Wednesday the Phillips, neighbors, zoo officials and humane society representatives were still trying to find a way to catch the elusive pest.

RIDE 'EM COWBOY?—NORTH PLATTE, Neb., June 26—Out West this is called—sometimes—calf riding. Here is Stanley Sedlacek, one of the 12-to-16-year-olds competing in rodeo, heading for the turf between the hooves of what appears to be an outsized calf.

Prank Costs Catsup, Firecracker, $20 Fine

LINCOLN, Neb., June 26 (AP)—Kenneth J. Thomas, 27, paid a $20 fine today for smearing catsup on his shirt, setting off a firecracker, and screaming that he had been shot.

Thomas' prank was so effective that a terrified co-worker went running for home "so frightened he could hardly talk," police said. Officers said Thomas apparently succeeded in frightening himself, too. They found him hiding under a bridge.

National Debt Cost Jumps to 24-Year High

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The cost of financing the short-term national debt jumped to a 24-year high tonight.

The Treasury said it would pay an average annual interest rate of 3.45 per cent on a three-billion-dollar issue of 264-day tax anticipation bills.

That is the highest interest rate the government has had to pay on under-one-year securities since the March, 1933, bank holiday when the rate was 4.25 per cent.

The previous high since that time was set earlier this month when the Treasury had to pay 3.94 per cent on an issue of 91-day treasury bills.

The three-billion-dollar offer was oversubscribed by more than 1½ billion dollars, the Treasury said.

There have been no recent issues of 264-day bills.

HUNT FOR ATTACKER CANCELED

Girl Found Nude, Beaten Only 'Pretty Good' Faker

TAMPA, Fla., June 26 (AP)—A father found his 16-year-old daughter nude, bound, gagged and beaten today, but police said it was all an act.

Detective Sgt. Dave Littleton, said, were the only ones that bled, and only "about two drops" of blood came from them, they added.

The father of the girl, however, fainted when she told her story to him in the hospital and it required two doctors to revive him, officers said.

Littleton said his long interrogation revealed that the girl staged "a pretty good act" because of differences with her parents. Littleton said "she came in pretty late last night, had a fuss with her mother, there's absolutely nothing to it."

She was treated for bruises at a local hospital today, but authorities said she "was not seriously hurt." Officers said she apparently inflicted the injuries on herself.

She was found by her father when he arrived home at lunchtime. She first indicated a Negro man staged the attack and police immediately launched a hunt for the alleged attacker today. It was called off late this afternoon.

SCRATCHES—Detectives said the girl "really didn't want to hurt herself." They said she scratched herself on the arms and legs and on her left cheek and shoulder. The scratches on the cheek and shoulder, they said, were "pretty good."

Rights Push Promised By Reuther

Pledges NAACP UAW Backing

DETROIT, June 26 (AP)—Walter P. Reuther told a mass meeting of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People tonight that "civil rights is the key issue in the world."

The United Auto Workers president was loudly applauded when he pledged the support of the nation's 1½ million members for the NAACP's objective of full civil rights for American Negroes.

"We are with you all the way until victory is ours," Reuther said.

"The problem of civil rights in the United States is an international issue. More than half the people of the world have dark skins. They are asking us, 'How do you square your noble professions with ugly practices in the civil rights field?'"

Referring to Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.), Reuther said, "Eastland and his association of bigots don't understand the great social dynamic forces sweeping the world. We need to get through to the dark corners of their small mentalities on this."

"America's immorality in the civil rights field could be its Achilles heel in the present world struggle."

Demanding immediate action on civil rights legislation, Reuther said:

"If this Congress would step up its responsibilities and pass a civil rights bill with teeth in it, that would give America a moral force in the world more powerful than all the H-bombs we could make."

Earlier, Joseph L. Rauh Jr., national vice chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, told the convention the White House should help halt "the current effort in many Southern states to put the NAACP out of business."

Moving Car Attacked by Piqued Emu

DARWIN, Australia, June 26 (AP)—Mrs. Toby Brown, 68, today accused an angry emu of assault and battery on her moving car.

The emu, largest living bird next to the ostrich, which it resembles, attacked a car which Mrs. Brown and two women companions were driving. Mrs. Brown said:

"She said the huge land bird, about seven feet tall, dented the fenders and roof and left one door so badly bent it cannot be opened."

"He tried to smash the windows and I had to accelerate to 60 miles an hour to escape," Mrs. Brown said.

AP Man Named To U.N. Mission

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., June 26 (AP)—Francis W. Carpenter will join the U.S. mission to the United Nations Aug. 1 with the title of director of news services. Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. delegate, announced the appointment today.

Since 1929 Carpenter has been with The Associated Press. He is 49 and was born in Decherd, Tenn.

Senators Praise, Blast Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The Senate held a spontaneous debate today on the present state of the Supreme Court. The high tribunal collected both praise and criticism.

Among those lauding the court were Sens. Neuberger (D-Ore.), Morse (D-Ore.), Javits (R-N.Y.), Clark (D-Pa.) and Wiley (R-Wis.). Critics included Sens. Bricker (R-Ohio), Mundt (R-S.D.), and Thurmond (D-SC).

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) also joined in the round of talk, saying the Supreme Court should not be condemned "hastily and excitedly."

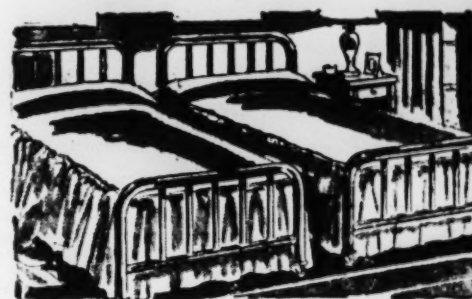

O'Mahoney announced outside the chamber that a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee which he himself exercise power vested by the Constitution in the states, the Congress and the executive."

Army's Port Held No Aid To State's 2

The chairman of the Georgia Ports Authority expressed doubts Wednesday about the commercial value of a new port facility near St. Marys, which the U. S. Army has offered to rent to Georgia.

R. E. Frankenfield of Savannah, authority chairman, said it was a "very fine facility" but would not meet the needs of Savannah or Brunswick.

Rep. Iris Blitch of Homerville announced in Washington Wednesday that the Army probably would rent its newly completed ammunition loading terminal at Kings Bay, some nine miles north of St. Marys.

Mrs. Blitch said the Army would reserve the right to reclaim the port in time of national emergency. During peacetime it would keep the facility in good condition. Rental would probably be in excess of $25,000 a year, she said.

Frankenfield said the Kings Bay port would not save any of the $8,800,000 the legislature has authorized Gov. Griffin to put to port-development use if and when the funds are available.

The six million dollars in the budget for Savannah is sorely needed, Frankenfield declared. He said that because of overcrowding, Savannah has had to turn down some 90 ships in the last six months.

And Savannah is some 120 miles from the Kings Bay facility, he added.

"I can't see where the facility would be of any use to Brunswick either," Frankenfield said.

Frankenfield said, however, that the Ports Authority will try to find some use for the Army docks.

The facility includes docks for the largest ships, rail heads, warehouses and equipment for cargo handling and vessel servicing.

Though the facility is remote from large cities, it is connected to main line railroads by spur tracks.

Year Ending, State Short Of Its Budget

The State of Georgia Wednesday counted income of $287,724,102 already collected as it prepared to close the books on the 1957-58 fiscal year on Friday.

That amount still is not sufficient to meet the 305 million dollar budget for the year.

However, Revenue Commissioner T. V. Williams will make the final payment of his collections for the year into the Treasury Friday.

Last year, the Treasury receipts in the final few days of June were $26,520,000.

If Revenue Department transfers only equal that this year, it would mean total revenue for the year of more than 314 millions, or approximately nine millions above budget approval.

Together with a 24 million surplus on hand at the beginning of the year, that would give the state a surplus of approximately 40 millions at the beginning of the 1957-58 fiscal year on Monday, July 1.

However, State Auditor B. E. Thas er Jr., sounded a note of caution, by noting that already it appears that the 1957-58 budget will be at least 329 millions.

And the year after that—the year in the middle of which the next governor will take office—the total budget will rise to 340 millions or more in the auditor's opinion.

House Gavel Wielded by Mrs. Blitch

Constitution Washington Bureau WASHINGTON, June 26—Rep. Iris Blitch had the rare honor—for a woman—of presiding over the House of Representatives today.

The Georgia congresswoman from Homerville was in the chair for about an hour while the House was deciding whether to agree with a Senate-House conference report on the health-education-welfare appropriations bill.

It was the first time Mrs. Blitch had presided over the House in her three years of congressional service. There are only 16 women members of the House and they are not often selected to preside.

While she was wielding the gavel, the House voted on and defeated a motion to send the new appropriations bill back to committee. Reps. James C. Davis, John J. Flynt Jr. and Phil Landrum voted for the motion but Mrs. Blitch and the rest of the Georgia delegation opposed it.

Mrs. Blitch, who has been suffering from a virus for the past several days, said she really didn't feel up to presiding over the House but did so at the insistence of majority leader John McCormack of Massachusetts.

Understanding Judge Turns Prisoner Loose

ST. CATHERINES, Ont., June 26—Allan Grant, 32, was brought into court on a charge of drunkenness in a public place, and told the magistrate: "I just arrived from England, didn't know how strong Canadian beer is."

"Year ago," reminisced the magistrate, "it was the other way around." Case dismissed.

Exposure Control for Fall-Out Urged Here

Charles K. Shafer, U.S. Weather Bureau meteorologist, told a meeting of Georgia Civil Defense officials Wednesday the only obvious protection from atomic "fall-out" is radiation exposure control.

Shafer, who is attached to the Civil Defense Administration, said that in cases of extreme radiation coverage in an atomic attack on this country, exposure control for as long as 50 years might be necessary.

With certain wind conditions prevailing, he explained, radioactive materials may be carried hundreds of miles before settling to earth.

The Georgia civil defense officials were in Atlanta for a day-long briefing for "Operation Alert," a nationwide exercise scheduled for July 12-14.

Tift Anti-Wine Pact

TIFTON, June 26—The Christian Citizen League has presented a petition to Mrs. Leon Clements, ordinary, asking that an election be called to bar sale of wine in Tift County.

Says TV Commercials Ruin Beautiful Words

WINNIPEG, June 26—Pierre Berton, managing editor of MacLean's magazine, says TV commercials have ruined some beautiful English words for discriminating use. He pointed out to an author's convention, for instance, that "wonderful" once meant "to excite wonder" and "amazing" was a word that "conjured up a picture in people's minds."

Kidney Stone Gone, Chance Is 10-to-1 Against Another

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

Anyone who has passed a kidney stone never wants to go through the experience again. What are the chances of a repeat performance? Can anything be done to reduce the odds? Roger Baker, M.D., of Washington, D.C., says the chance is less than 1 in 10 of having to go through the ordeal again.

These odds have not changed much in the last 16 years, despite our modern antibiotics and the use of diet as a preventive measure. These statistics led Dr. Baker to question our current concept of the formation of renal calculi. The opinion is held that anyone with an excess concentration of calcium crystals in the urine is more susceptible. A few of these crystals stick together and act as a nucleus.

This sounds logical but there are many loopholes in the theory. First people with large amounts of calcium in the blood and urine seldom form stones. Furthermore, patients with these rocks rarely have an excess of calcium in their system. The exception occurs when an overabundance of calcium is caused by a disturbance of the parathyroid glands; 50 per cent of patients with this combination develop calcium concretions.

Dr. Baker thinks a hormone stimulates the kidneys to manufacture a substance that makes the crystals adhere to each other. Unless this substance is present the crystals are harmless and are eliminated before they form a stone.

Infection as a cause also is under a cloud. For years it was felt that nests of bacteria acted as the nucleus of a stone. But a survey showed that 56 per cent of 716 stone formers did not have an infection. Furthermore, less than 3 per cent of all patients with kidney infection suffer from stones. If bacteria are so important, why don't they lead to rock formation more often?

On the other hand, 11 to 22 per cent of patients with gout develop renal stones, and the uric acid substance mentioned may be manufactured in gout also.

What about diet? Dr. Baker thinks the evidence inconclusive that milk and milk products encourage kidney calculi. The same can be said of spinach, rhubarb, cocoa, asparagus and chocolate. But he is not ready to discard our past methods of treatment. The older causes may be contributing, and until more is known, stick with the advice of your own physician.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions relating to health and hygiene in his column, and by mail, when self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Letters should be addressed to Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen, c/o The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta 2, Ga.

White Collar Workers Turn Into Laborers

MOSCOW, June 26 (AP)—White collar workers bounced off their jobs by a cut in Soviet bureaucracy are acquiring manual skills. The Tass agency reports the Administration for Labor Reserve is training them as metal and construction workers, sewing experts and switchboard operators. Salary and tuition for four to six months are paid, Tass says.

7,157 Aliens in State Listed

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—New York led the list with 550. There are 7,157 aliens in Georgia, according to the January census, the Immigration Service reported today.

The largest number were from Germany—1,943—with Great Britain and Canada not far behind at 1,935.

The Immigration Service conducts a census each January under a law requiring every alien in the country in that month to report his current address. It 649; DeKalb, 564; Chatham, 506; applies to temporary visitors as well as permanent residents. For the entire United States the total was 2,832,732, up nearly 7.5 per cent from January 1956.

Most of those in Georgia were concentrated in metropolitan areas and at defense installations. Fulton County (Atlanta) was tops with 1,722 followed closely by Muscogee County (Columbus) and Ft. Benning with 1,665.

Other counties with large numbers of aliens are: Richmond, 649; DeKalb, 564; Chatham, 506; Cobb, 218; well as permanent residents. For the entire United States the total was 2,832,732, up nearly 7.5 per cent from January 1956.

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The committee, "beyond any doubt," had the authority to investigate and to subpoena witnesses, alleged testimony of Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the subcommittee, was inadmissible as evidence. "The court rejects each of these contentions," Sirica said in a 17-page written opinion.

rejected all contentions. Brewster's attorneys that he was with in his rights in refusing to produce records and answer questions before the Senate Investigations subcommittee in January.

Sirica handed down the verdict without Brewster being on hand to hear it. He had waived his right to be present in order to return to the West Coast at the conclusion of his six-day trial last Thursday.

But Sirica listed Brewster's main contentions throughout the trial as: (1) the question of alleged racketeering in the Western Conference of the Teamsters, which Brewster heads, was clearly beyond the scope of the subcommittee's authority; (2) questions contained in the indictment were not pertinent to the question under inquiry; (3) subpoenas calling upon Brewster to produce records were so broad and sweeping as to vio-

Cummings

Brewster faces a sentence up to a year in jail and a $1,000 fine. No date was fixed for sentencing. Such is usual in criminal cases. Since the case was referred to the court's probation office for a presentence report and investigation, Sarica continued Brewster's $1,000 bond pending receipt of this report.

DRIVING IS NO VACATION

Three other Teamster leaders who, like Brewster, challenged the subcommittee's authority, are awaiting trial on contempt of Congress charges. They are Einar O. Mohn, a vice president, who functions as executive assistant to President Dave Beck; Nugent La Poma, secretary-treasurer of Local 194, Seattle; and Harry Reis, administrator of the welfare fund of Local 227, New York.

RUTHERFORD, N.J., June 26 (U)—A senior state engineer gave discouraging news today to homeowners who awoke Tuesday to find their houses mysteriously changed in color.

Lester Barrer, senior engineer for the Department of Public Health, explained the mystery this way after two of his chemists examined the homes with Rutherford health officials:

A hydrogen sulfide solution in the atmosphere discolored the paint by creating lead sulfide from the lead base paint.

Moreover, Barrer said, the brown blotches on the white homes will vanish only when the paint is removed or covered up.

This was bad news to the 200 homeowners here and in nearby Lyndhurst and North Arlington who had their houses discolored.

MOVIE REVIEW

'80 Days' Leaves Viewer Seeking Better Adjectives

Dust off those Hollywood adjectives. They don't seem too extravagant for "Around the World in 80 Days." Mike Todd's three-hour-long bit of cinematic razzle-dazzle which opened at the Roxy Theater Wednesday night. Words like "fabulous" "breathtaking" "fantastic" and "smash hit" have already been applied to the Academy Award-winning motion picture in New York and other cities where it has broken attendance records. Filmed in the new Todd-AO process, "Around the World" is the first movie to combine a real story with a radical widescreen innovation. It's a welcome departure from previous glorified travelogues.

HEAVENLY HOKUM

Plot of "Around the World" is heavenly hokum. S. J. Perelman adapted Jules Verne's classic story of a dapper English gentleman and his valet who raced the clock around the globe to win a wager back in the 1870's.

Hollywood star David Niven portrays world-traveler Phileas Fogg to perfection. He is impeccable, urbane, imperturbable as British as Big Ben. The magnificent Mexican comedian Cantinflas as Fogg's valet steals scene after scene.

TOP "BIT" PLAYERS

Shirley MacLaine is just happily cast as Phileas' Aunt. But no movie-goer will quarrel with such "bit players" as Frank Sinatra (a honky-tonk piano player), Marlene Dietrich (a dance hall hostess), Red Skelton (a lunch loader) and a host of Hollywood greats ranging from comedian Buster Keaton to Charles Boyer. The late Robert Newton is the ideal Inspector Fix.

A spectacular in every sense of the word, "Around the World" takes movie-goers on dizzying balloon flights, rail trips and ocean voyages. The globe-trotting adventure includes a Spanish bull fight, gypsy dances, intrigue in an Indian temple, Indian fighting in the early American wild West, and colorful episodes in settings ranging from Allanabad to Yokohama.

HAUNTING MUSIC

The picture has a haunting musical score, unusual color and high quality sound. Throughout it reflects Todd's well-publicized showmanship and imagination.

The Atlanta run began officially Wednesday night before a first-night audience including Gov. Griffin, Mayor Hartsfield and county commissioners and other officials from all over the state. First-nighters, along with motion picture industry officials and members of the press who had viewed "Around the World" at a special showing earlier this week, agreed for the most part with rave notices the picture has received in other parts of the country.

STILL FLAWS

Some viewers, however, cited distortion flaws in the new process. Todd-AO Vice President Douglas Netter Jr. and Michael Todd Jr., who flew here this week to inspect the Roxy's facilities, said their company is "still working on bugs" and improving the process. Several Atlantans in the opening audience expressed the opinion that "Around the World" might have been improved by trimming its length. But most movie-goers agreed with the woman in an aisle seat who declared, "That picture must have been fun to make. It was such wonderful fun to see!"

9 Petitions Okayed By Planning Board

The joint Atlanta-Fulton County planning board Wednesday approved nine petitions, adverse four and held five others for further consideration.

Adversed were measures affecting sites at Brandon Mill road and the north line of land lot 86 Campbellton road, SW, near DeLowe drive; Piedmont road, NE, near Peachtree road, and Piedmont avenue and 14th street. Held were petitions for sites at Barnett street and Forrest road, NE; Hills avenue and the Seaboard railroad; Monroe drive, NE, near Wimbledon road; Moreland avenue, SE, near East Fair street, and Tribble avenue and Bolton road. All other petitions were approved.

Opera Unit Air Sick on Arrival Here

A little worse for the wear, a troupe of NBC Opera Co. representatives stopped over in Atlanta Wednesday during a good-will tour of the country.

Atlanta is the 19th of 21 cities they intend to visit in 10 days. "We've all been air-sick," general manager Chandler Cowles reported.

GRUELING PACE

The grueling pace has claimed two victims, Cowles continued. Soprano Shirley Chester became sick "every time she got in the air" and had to return to New York. Production supervisor David Kanter had to be met at St. Louis by an ambulance after he developed intestinal trouble.

But the NBC people seemed in good spirits.

Cecilia Ward, only singing survivor of the tour group, bubbled with enthusiasm about the opera-in-English efforts of the eight-year-old company.

Being a part of the company has a special "glamor," Miss Ward asserted, though she added that she didn't mean the "six poodles and Cadillac" type glamor of the past.

FROM ALEXANDRIA, LA.

Miss Ward, who hails from Alexandria, La., is also the only Southerner in the group. "Everywhere we go in the South, she seems to know someone," press and promotion director Bob Cumfitt declared.

The travelers were the guests here of Marvin McDonald, manager of the All Star Concert Series. The NBC Opera Co. presented "Madame Butterfly" here on the series last year. They will give "La Traviata" this fall. The company's new production of the Verdi favorite was premiered this April 21 in a color play.

FRAGILE SET

The set is a rather fragile thing, Cumfitt said. He explained design team made making use of glass partitions.

Opening night in the tour included a performance at the Roxy Theater. The tour will include New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., and San Francisco.

Fulton Seeks U.S., Georgia Aid for Roads

A Fulton County official said Wednesday the county will ask for both federal and state aid for some of the $21,400,000 worth of traffic improvement projects it plans to undertake with bond funds.

A. T. McDonald, county public works director, said the county could not specify the exact amounts to be requested for the projects until a citizens bond commission establishes the budget for each project.

McDonald emphasized, however, that at least a half-dozen of the projects planned with bond funds are a part of the state or federal road systems and qualify for aid.

He said county officials in a dinner meeting Tuesday night with state and federal road officials, notified them that the county expects to make an official request soon for the aid money.

Officials also took up right-of-way problems during the dinner meeting, McDonald said. He stated that the county was especially interested in getting federal and state officials to pinpoint as soon as possible the location of Atlanta-encircling perimeter roads.

Committee Pushes South Fulton Water Project

The aldermanic boards water committee Wednesday moved to south Fulton County extending expedite completion of a giant below Fairburn. He added that water main project in south Fulton County and approved a contract under which Union City will buy Atlanta water for redistribution.

Committee Chairman James E. Jackson said the committee will push a request from Fulton commissioners to expedite construction of the 90-mile long main job costing more than $2,000,000 in charge will be applicable to bills paid by the 20th of each month. The contract will run for 40 years, but can be revised by agreement. Union City has just emerged from a water shortage crisis. Jackson says he is positive ample water will be available in the future. The city is abandoning its own water system and buying exclusively from Atlanta.

Under the new contract, Union City will buy water for a net charge of 15 cents per 100 cubic feet and 19 cents gross per 100 cubic feet until Jan. 1. After that, the cost will be 15 cents net and 22 cents gross. The net Waterworks Manager Paul Weir reported that the 48-inch Chattahoochee river pumping station intake has been repaired and rebuilt.

Intimidation Probe Hears Hartsfield

Chief Gives Jury 'Scandal' Report

was read to the entire grand jury.

Jenkins also handed the jury a photograph of an attractive woman who gave police a statement about the hotel room incident. The photograph is of a woman attired in street clothing.

Jenkins was before the grand jury for 35 minutes. Immediately after he left the jury room, he went to an anteroom where the mayor was waiting to be called into the jury room and conferred with the mayor for about 10 minutes.

The newsmen who appeared before Jenkins were questioned about the publication of Brooks' report of the intimidation effort made by an unnamed city official, it was learned.

The mayor entered the jury room at 12:55 p.m.

LUNCH

At 2:35 p.m., most of the jurors, including the foreman, left the jury room for lunch. D. C. Hemrick Jr., jury secretary who served temporarily as foreman Wednesday, told reporters he did not believe he could "say a thing" when asked for a comment on the day's session.

There was no explanation given as to why he served as foreman.

At 2:42 p.m., the mayor could be seen inside the jury room still talking to a number of jurors.

One of them closed the door. At 2 p.m. it opened and all but three of them left. They kept talking with the mayor.

At 3:15 p.m., most of the jurors who had been to lunch began returning. On seeing the mayor still in the jury room, one of them asked reporters, "Is he still here?"

STATEMENT

When questioned by reporters about his appearance, the mayor gave this statement:

"I went over the whole topic of city government. They asked many questions and we discussed practically every phase of city operations. I found them to be very courteous and considerate.

"In response to the question, 'Was I asked about the intimidation report?' I stated to the jury that I had no personal knowledge of anybody anywhere in the city government attempting to intimidate the grand jury.

"As for me personally, I had never spoken to a single member about any grand jury business anywhere at any time until I walked into the room this morning. I'm quite sure that nobody in the city government would either directly or indirectly attempt to intimidate the grand jury.

"On the contrary, I think there is a desire to cooperate in any fair investigation of anything."

The jury adjourned its session at 4:45 p.m. Wednesday.

GOODBY, MOM—CHICAGO, June 26—Joseph Schwartz, 18, sobs beside his mother after being sentenced to 50 years in the penitentiary. The youth was convicted in the hammer-slaying of Alvin Palmer, 17-year-old Negro. Schwartz's 12 companions are being tried as a group on murder charges.

Mothballing Of Arms Gets Soviet Study

under the supervision of an international inspectorate.

Twelve months after this sequestration of weapons had been carried out to the satisfaction of the inspectorate, the disposal of weapons would begin. Some weapons, such as long-range aircraft, might be remodeled for peaceful use. Others, such as guided missiles and tanks, would be destroyed.

The U.S. proposal includes everything but nuclear bombs and warheads. Essentially, it is a counter-proposal to the Soviet proposal for a percentage reduction of weapons by 15 per cent.

In the American view, no outside agency could say what a 15 per cent reduction involved and it would be impossible for an inspection system to verify the percentage of weapons retired by each government.

Zorin's initial reaction to the proposal was a suggestion that the United States be the first to table its list. The American counter suggestion is that all lists be exchanged on the same day.

Britain, whose spokesman today was Cmdr. Allan Noble, minister of state in the foreign office, accepted the U.S. proposal on the understanding that the lists submitted be related to reductions in manpower.

The French and Canadian delegation also accepted Stassen's proposals in principle. Both Jules Moch and David Johnston, the two delegation heads, noted certain reservations, however.

"On the contrary, I think there is a desire to cooperate in any fair investigation of anything."

The jury adjourned its session at 4:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Nickerson Witness Hits Army Policy

operations division of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency here, in which Colonel Nickerson until January was chief of the field coordinating office.

A German-born naturalized American citizen, Dr. Von Braun came to the U.S. after World War II among 120 missile experts who had developed the V-2 used by the Germans against England. He testified today that he had had 2 years experience developing rockets and missiles, including eight years on the V-2 and seven years at Redstone.

SURE OF SUPERIORITY

"I have no doubt whatever," he told the court, "that the Jupiter is far superior to the Thor."

He was not allowed, for security reasons, to tell the reasons for this opinion in open court, but said he would do so in closed session.

He said the Army's security policy had made it impossible for the public to realize the importance of encouraging the Army team to stay together and keep working on Jupiter. It also had prompted Colonel Nickerson to sacrifice himself by technical violations in order to inform the public and promote true national security, the witness added.

'NO MONEY, NO JUPITER'

"The Jupiter involves several hundred million dollars of the taxpayers' money," he testified. "One hundred per cent security would mean no information for the public, no money for the Army, no Jupiter. That would be to the detriment of any new weapon. It would be so secret you could never develop it."

"The ideal thing would be 100 per cent security and all the money you want. But the world is not built that way. The Army has got to play the same game as the Air Force and Navy."

"The only place where 100 per cent security can work is in a country like Russia where the government does not have to tell the public anything."

STRESS ON PUBLIC RELATION

He said the Army spends 90 per cent of its funds on research and 10 per cent on public relations but the Air Force spends 50 per cent on each. Air Force liberality in security regulations, he went on, benefits the country as well as the Air Force because every dollar it spends on public relations brings in two dollars in appropriations that can be spent on research.

member of Gov. Griffin's administration—State Highway Chairman Roger H. Lawson.

Lawson, who had to cut short a brief vacation because of the death of his father-in-law, told reporters Wednesday he still is "very strongly considering" resigning in order to run.

Lawson said he has not yet made a "final decision" but promised to make known his intentions "one way or another" not later than Monday.

Lawson refused to comment directly on Williams' earlier statement that the entry of another Griffin administration leader into the gubernatorial picture would "muddy the edge of the water."

"For my part, I have received and continue to receive encouragement to make the race and I'm seriously considering it because it is my ambition to serve my state," Lawson said.

Williams, for his part, said there has been "no change" from his position of Monday when he said there was a strong probability that he would resign at the end of the week to run.

"Things are looking better," he said.

However, Williams also hinted to a reporter that should Gov. Griffin request that he stay on at the helm of the Revenue Department that he would probably do so out of loyalty to the governor.

inactive fallout in another four or five years. And he said he has been informed the tests must continue in order to find the best peacetime uses of atomic energy.

On civil rights and related matters, Eisenhower said all Americans must respect the duties and obligations of the Supreme Court even though nonlawyers like himself may have "very great trouble" understanding some of its recent decisions.

He disagreed with a newsmen's suggestion that the court has no way of defending itself from heavy attacks on its series of decisions banning school segregation and otherwise affecting individual rights.

Eisenhower said the justices "lay out the whole works" in their opinions, adding that the dissents sometimes have had more effect in the long run than the majority opinions.

"I still believe," he said, "that the United States respects the Supreme Court and looks to it as one of the great stabilizing influences in this country."

Eisenhower said that when the court hands down a unanimous decision, as it did in the school case, that puts "certain responsibilities" on the president. That, he said, is why he has asked Congress to set up a commission to decide just what these responsibilities are.

Describing his whole civil rights program as intended to educate, rather than persecute people, Eisenhower said he regarded as "a very moderate, decent thing" his proposal that those disobeying court orders be subject to penalties without jury trial.

This has been the most hotly contested section of his civil rights bill, which has been passed by the House and now awaits Senate action.

Eisenhower's comments on inflation came against a background of (1) a new peak in consumer prices for the ninth straight month and (2) authoritative forecasts

Janis Paige Will Make Her Debut
In Live Role as Star of 'Latch Key'

PICK OF THE DAY—Janis Paige makes her live television debut in "The Latch Key," Video Theater drama, at 9 p.m. on Channel 2.

The play and the star are our choice for several reasons. Miss Paige has been turning in some especially fine work in Hollywood movies and on the Broadway stage in the past few seasons. (Atlanta moviegoers saw her in a delicious comedy role in "Silk Stockings" just last week.) Her TV debut should be auspicious. And Video drama offerings are usually worthwhile.

The Channel 2 teleplay tells the story of a schoolteacher who tries unsuccessfully to break off her affair with a married man—then finds herself involved with murder.

GOULD LOOKS AT TV

Godfrey's Variety Folds,
But Arthur's Still Busy

By JACK GOULD
(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)

NEW YORK, June 26—The Wednesday night variety show starring Arthur Godfrey and his company quietly completed its engagement tonight. It was an engagement that had lasted nine hectic years during which the humorist achieved new heights of popularity, became involved in a fateful controversy over "humility" that largely destroyed the illusion of his happy family and survived as one of the busiest and most amply rewarded figures in broadcasting.

Unlike Robert Montgomery and Sid Caesar, who as yet have no definite plans for next season, the termination of Godfrey's Wednesday night show does not mean he will be leaving the air. He will continue his daytime TV and radio operations as well as his "Talent Scouts" show on Monday evenings.

But the abandonment of the Wednesday night program is one more sign of the transitional period through which TV is passing. Godfrey had wearied of the weekly strain of the variety program in addition to all his other duties. But he also had been plagued by the material problem which is haunting all forms of TV and also had felt the competition of "Disneyland."

For his final Wednesday show Godfrey was on his farm in Virginia. There he was almost a paternalistic figure showing off his many trained animals, an Arabian horse, a pet donkey, a French poodle and a monkey. For the program's opening Godfrey landed his helicopter on the lawn of his estate.

NOT REAL VARIETY

This wasn't really a variety show, except for the vocal selections by members of his company in New York and San Francisco, but rather an hour with a well-known personality pursuing some of his hobbies. For all of his express regrets over the program's final performance, he seemed almost relieved that it was over.

Godfrey never has been a performer in the accepted sense of the word, on a full stage his husky singing and occasional ukulele playing were hardly sufficient talents to sustain an hour.

WAS SUBDUED

Rather Godfrey is uniquely a humorist born in the medium of radio. Tonight on TV he was extremely subdued but in recent weeks on radio he has had much of his old-time spark—the ad libs that grow out of the informal banter with his company, the his disaffair audiences to giggle, the leisurely pace in which he is always most relaxed and his traditional disdain for the complicated or silly commercial.

Godfrey said tonight that he was going to do a good deal of touring in the future. One ad-

NBC Musical To Mark
GM's 50th Birthday

(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)
NEW YORK, June 26—General Motors has commissioned the National Broadcasting Co. to produce a two-hour musical telecast to mark the automotive concern's 50th anniversary.

The program will be televised in color from 9 to 11 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 17. The commission was placed this week, and the network has not made any decisions on who will appear or work behind the scenes on the telecast.

The show will recall the most popular American tunes of the last half-century. A number of prominent artists are being sought, but none has yet been signed.

"Our aim is to present an exciting cavalcade of the music all America knows—music that Americans have sung, danced to and loved in the five decades from 1908 to 1958," Harlow H. Currier, president of General Motors, commented.

"It should be not only two hours of the best in entertainment, but a thrilling and memorable panorama of that period of American life in which GM has been favored with an opportunity to make an important contribution."

Blair To Act As Ga. State President

By BRUCE GALPHIN
J. D. Blair, registrar and acting administrative dean, will serve as acting president of Georgia State College of Business Administration after June 30, Chancellor Harmon Caldwell said Wednesday.

The Board of Regents took no action Wednesday on the vacancy being created by Dr. George Sparks' retirement. Caldwell said that Blair would automatically fill the vacancy under the institution's by-laws.

The regents will meet again in two weeks, and one source said the presidency may be filled at that time.

Regents approved raising student services rates at three institutions. These included:

1. Raising girls' dormitory fees at the university from $30 to $35 a quarter.

2. Raising rates at Payne, Griggs and Dudley halls for men at Athens from $44 to $49 per quarter.

3. Increasing rentals in other men's dormitories at Athens from $49 to $54 per quarter.

4. Boosting the laundry fee at Georgia State College for Women from $10 to $13 per quarter.

5. Raising the laundry fee at Savannah State College from $9 to $11 per quarter.

The board approved eight "Foundation Professorships," which carry pay supplements raised by the University of Georgia Foundation. These went to Dr. Jasper Guy Woodroof, Dr. Rudolph Henry Driftmier, Dr. Glenn Willard Burton, Dr. Jules Alcatore, Dr. Calvin Smith Brown, Harold Milton Heckman, Dr. Eugene Pleasant Odum and Dr. Albert Berry Saye.

Regents recommended that the University of Georgia's educational television center be moved from Monroe to Tucker. It directed that the university produce "no training films or institutional films in competition with commercial film producers."

Dr. J. F. Boyd was named director of the Engineering Experiment Station at Georgia Tech.

The following expenditures were authorized:

1. For Tech to purchase a house and lot at 782 Teechwood Dr., NW: $10,500. For a house at Atlantic drive and Sixth street, NW: $5,000.

2. For continuance of Tech's nuclear reactor work: $10,000.

3. For expansion of the library at Fort Valley State College: $20,000.

The Board rejected a request by non-Georgia alumni of the Medical College of Georgia that their children be allowed to attend the college.

It approved changing the name of Senior Hall at Valdosta State College to Frank R. Reade Hall in honor of the late president of the institution.

Egypt To Admit British Mission

CAIRO, June 26 (AP)—Egypt said tonight a British mission will be allowed to come to Cairo to examine the status of British property sequestered as a result of the Suez dispute.

Egypt's Middle East News Agency said:

"The arrival of this mission and its fact-finding of the real condition of the property will give impulse to a resumption of the financial negotiations between Egypt and Britain which were stopped temporarily May 28."

Billy Graham Ask Savior Into Heart, Sinner Told

QUESTION: I'm all mixed up and I know it. I am a senior in high school and run with a gang. We have tried everything—and I mean everything—and I know I am going to hell. My mother was a Christian but she is dead and my father is busy and away most of the time. I don't want to live like this and I am afraid to die like this but I feel like I am chained to the devil. What can I do?

ANSWER: Your address is not clear and I cannot write you a personal letter. You have reached the place where you know you are a sinner, are sorry you are a sinner and want help. Strange as it may sound you are on good ground because Christ wants to help and save you but He cannot help the self-sufficient and proud. You feel like you are chained to the devil, but Christ is stronger than the devil, and will release you from his power.

Please do just as I say: Get in some quiet place and kneel down and tell Jesus all about your troubles. Tell Him about those things you have been doing with the gang—all of them. Tell Him you are sorry but that you keep on doing them. Ask Him to forgive you and to come and live in your heart and give you the power to overcome the temptations you face every day. Then thank Him for hearing you and being your Saviour and from right then talk to Him any time during the day or night.

The question will come soon as to whether you should commit some sin. Stop right then and ask Him to help you. Ask Him whether the place you are going is a place He can go with you. Ask Him if the thing you are planning to do is something He will be with you while you are doing it. Get a Bible right away and start reading it. I would suggest that you take the gospel of John, in the New Testament, and read it straight through. Then read it again. Then read it again.

Ask God to speak to you through the Bible and ask His help to do what it tells you to do. Also, turn to the Old Testament and start reading the Book of Proverbs, one chapter each day. Do this for many months. If you will do this I can promise you your heart will be filled with joy and peace.

State Firm Gets $3,549,433 Job For Atlanta NAS

CHARLESTON, S.C., June 26 (AP)—$3,549,433 contract for construction of naval aviation facilities at the relocated Atlanta Naval Air Station at Marietta, has been awarded to Batson-Cook Co., West Point, Ga.

The new location of the station is adjacent to Dobbins Air Force Base.

Relocation of the Naval air activity provides the Navy with facilities for jet aircraft. At Dobbins, the Navy will have joint use of a 10,000-foot runway with the Air Force.

Facilities to be constructed include a hangar, general and aviation storage buildings, liquid fuel facilities, a public works building, boiler plant building, sewage lift station, fire protection pump house, paved drives and parking area, rail trackage and utility connections. The buildings will be of brick and concrete masonry.

Hoad, Cooper Coast In Wimbledon Play

Seixas and Flam Triumph;
Fageros Rallies To Win

WIMBLEDON, England, June 26 (AP)—Lew Hoad, a wealthy youngster who is too busy to accept the best professional tennis offer ever made, blew over another opponent today in his rush toward a second straight Wimbledon championship.

He defeated Trevor Fancutt of 1953 winner who is seeded sixth, South Africa in the second round, and seventh-seeded Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., defeated

Hoad, a husky Australian who entered amateur tennis as a poor boy, now is author of a book on tennis, owner of a garage, employee of a tennis goods manufacturing company and collects expenses for playing in tennis tournaments a large part of each year. He has turned down big bids from pro tennis promoter Jack Kramer.

If Hoad drives on to a Wimbledon singles championship, July 5, as practically everyone expects him to do, Lew will be the first since California's Don Budge to win Wimbledon twice in a row. Budge did it in 1937-38, 1937-38.

As the 71st Wimbledon Championships move through the third day without a major upset, an other all-Australian final appeared shaping up with Hoad and Ashley Cooper as the principals.

The second-seeded Cooper had everything—power, finesse, speed, positioning, rejuvenated forehand and other shots—in his 6-1, 6-3, 6-3 victory over aging Jarslav Drobný, the 1951 champion.

Women's Play
Begins Today

MAMARONECK, N.Y., July 26

Encouraged by the fact that an amateur almost won last year, a record field of 98 players—mostly amateurs—sets out tomorrow in quest of the U.S. Women's Open golf championship.

It took an extra round at Duluth a year ago before Kathy Cornelius, an attractive, husky, 25-year-old professional, managed to turn back Barbara McIntire, a dark-haired, dimpled, 22-year-old amateur from Toledo.

By winning the playoff, 75-82, after Barbara had shot an eagle on the 72nd hole to gain a tie at MAMARONECK, N.Y., June 26 (AP)—Prize money in the fifth U.S. Golf Assn. Women's Open championship was increased by 20 per cent today on the eve of the tournament. Because of an excellent advance sale of tickets, U.S.G.A. officials announced the increase to a $7,200 total from the $6,000 original purse. The prize for the winning, or leading, professional will be $1,800.

302. Kathy maintained the pro's supremacy which had existed ever since the tournament was inaugurated in 1946.

The record field for this tournament—there originally were just 100 entries—includes 66 amateurs and 32 professionals. It was swelled by local amateur entries, of course, but the metropolitan district has a lot of good women players and the chances are a few of them will beat some pros.

And the better amateurs in the field may again give the leaders a run for the championship.

The previous record field was 58 entries and 33 starters at Salem, Mass., in 1954.

Play starts at 8 a.m. EST, tomorrow over the 6,246-yard East Course of the Winged Foot Golf Club. Single 18-hole rounds will be played Thursday and Friday, then the field will be cut to the low 40 and ties for two more rounds Saturday.

The touring women professionals, who play every week and who quite often score in the 80s, are expected to be the leading title contenders as well as the leading gate attractions.

Heading this list are the defending champion, Mrs. Cornelius, who hasn't won a tournament since her open victory last year; Louise Suggs, newly crowned ladies PGA champion; Betsy Rawls, Patty Berg, Fay Crocker, Mickey Wright, Bev Hanson and Marlene Bauer Hagge.

Phils Acquire Warren Hacker On Waivers

PHILADELPHIA, June 26 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies announced today they had acquired on waivers from the Cincinnati Redlegs veteran right-hander Warren Hacker.

At the same time, the Phils optioned Ed Keegan, 17-year-old Haddonfield, N.J., high school right-hander, to the High Point-Thomasville, N.C., club in the class B Carolina League.

Hacker, who will join the Phils at St. Louis tomorrow, is expected to bolster the club's bullpen staff. Hacker has been especially effective against the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates, two second division teams that have always given the Phils trouble.

Young Keegan was signed by the Phils recently to a non-bonus contract with the parent club.

LSU Names McCreary to Basketball Post

BATON ROUGE, June 26 (AP)—Louisiana State University today selected L. Jay McCreary, 39-year-old Indiana High School coach, to succeed Harry Rabenhorst as basketball coach.

Rabenhorst retired at the end of the past season after 29 years at LSU.

McCreary, 13-year-coaching veteran, who graduated from the University of Indiana in 1940, was given a three-year contract at $8,500 per year.

The LSU board of supervisors unanimously approved the recommendations by athletic director James Corbett.

In six years coaching at Muncie in the Indiana hot bed of basketball, McCreary's teams won 134 games and lost 32. He won a state championship in 1952 and was runner-up in 1954. McCreary currently is in Puerto Rico coaching the Bayamon team as part of a program by the Puerto Rican government to improve the quality of basketball on the island. He will report to LSU Aug. 1.

McCreary faces a stiff task in reviving LSU's sagging basketball fortunes. The Tigers haven't had a winning season since all-American center Bob Pettit graduated in 1954. The 1956-57 team won only six games and the material for next season is considered weaker.

O'Malley Says Bums Might Stay at Home

Dodger Prexy Tells Hearing He's Unsure About LA Move

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers would stay in Brooklyn if they could develop the right kind of physical plant quickly, President Walter O'Malley told investigating congressmen today.

O'Malley testified he would be satisfied if New York City would provide him with a site on which he could build a 50,000-seat stadium for his National League baseball team (Ebbets Field holds about 32,000).

"Another 'must,' he made clear, is a parking facility for 4,000 cars at Atlantic and Flatbush avenues, where there are good subway connections.

Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.), chairman of the inquiry group, asked the Dodgers' boss whether he would remain in Brooklyn if all that were available, even though he has invested two million dollars in the Los Angeles ball park.

"Yes," O'Malley said. But he quickly added:

"Time is definitely running out on that."

He said people in Los Angeles are "working very rapidly and very intelligently" to get the Dodgers out there.

"Right now I'm worried sick that I haven't got a place to play," O'Malley commented. His lease on Ebbets Field expires at the end of the 1959 season.

O'Malley appeared before the House Antitrust Subcommittee, which is studying the legal status of professional team sports.

The first question Celler asked him was, "Will the Dodgers play in Los Angeles next year?"

"I do not know the answer," O'Malley replied. He said he will decide about shifting the franchise at the end of this playing season.

O'Malley went on to say that Mayor Robert Wagner has assured him "he will have something to show me, shortly." He emphasized that time was of the essence, that he couldn't fight any lawsuits over availability of a New York site or struggle with gravel or other material shortages when the time came to build a stadium.

DIAMOND DIARY

Cards' McDaniels Up Stock of 'Bonus Boys'; Slugging Stuart Getting 'Unwanted Complex'

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

"Bonus Boy" is no longer an expression with nasty connotations like "juvenile delinquent" or "brother" coming to visit us this week."

Baseball execs have long been trying to discourage the signing of callow 18-year-olds with great potential, but little else for sure, for checks in amounts of five figures, not counting decimals.

They were that is until Von and Lindy McDaniels came along and began to prove right off that they will be worth the $50,000 each brother managed to wangle out of the St. Louis Cardinals, even if the combined ages of both aren't equal to pitching teammate Murry Dickson (41).

Lindy got his chunk in 1955 and it is long-since established that the "ancient" 21-year-old is "big league" all the way. But 17-year-old Von, a month out of high school now, is the lad who has baseball men from Bangor to Key West doing the tongue wagging this week.

Von has fared only contending Brooklyn and Philadelphia in the National League, has 17 shutout-innings to his credit, including a two-hit shutout (2-0) of the Dodgers. He not only put Hollis, Okla., on the map but the "Bonus Boy" back in business.

Besides, implications to the contrary, all youngsters who signed bonus pacts haven't been named Paul Pettit and Bruce Swango. Some of them had handles like Robin Roberts, Al Dark, Johnny Antonelli, Curt Simmons, Chuck Stobbs, Frank House and Haywood Sullivan.

UNWANTED FEELING—Dick Stuart, the Pittsburgh- to -Hollywood-to-Atlanta-to-Lincoln, Nebraska, home-run slugger, says he's getting an "unwanted" complex. He says, "Nobody wants me. I guess, Pittsburgh didn't want me. Hollywood didn't want me. Atlanta didn't want me—and my wife didn't want me. She divorced me when I got back to California from spring training."

Stuart, who hit 66 homers at Lincoln last year, says that didn't do him any good, so he plans to win the batting title this year and see if that helps any. He smashed a grand-slam homer, two singles and played first base in his first game at Lincoln. The caption over his picture in "Sporting News" reads "complete cycle."

"Shouldn't that be 'Complete Psycho'?" quipped one Southern Assn. player.

HERBY AND THERE—When the Wolves began getting on Miami manager Don Osborn, the Marlins acquired Jack Meyer, Howie Judson and Bubba Church to aid the pitching staff, which just shows how well off the parent Phils feel they are in the hurling department. The Marlins also acquired outfielder Whitey Herzog.

Von McDaniels Lindy McDaniels

George Brunet, sensational Little Rock lefty, fanned 40 Crackers in 35 innings while beating them 4 times. Bob Montag's "homer" that was really foul was the Crax lone earned run off him in three games. They got three more when he won 5-3 last week. But, in relief Sunday, he faced just two Crackers, walked Joe Morgan, allowed Don Nottebart a single before being relieved. Morgan eventually scored for another earned tally off Brunet.

ERIE RODIN, Little Rock bomber, has 10 hits in 16 trips—six for extra bases—in four games since his three-day suspension for umpire bating ended.

Atlanta Larry Osborne, recalled this week by Detroit, was murder for Birmingham against Little Rock. His blasts accounted for four Traveler defeats.

The raw calves of Cracker Sammy Meeks' legs would keep anyone except an old pro like the Memphis in bed. . . . Detroit's J. W. Porter is called "Waldo" by teammates because as a kid he was an avid Ralph Waldo Emerson reader. . . . Bobby Bragan, Pittsburgh pilot, says he likes Milwaukee's Juan Pizarro better than any hurler in the National. . . . In New York, if you're alert, you can see 250 baseball games on TV during the season.

Billy Goodman, onetime Cracker, has changed from a Sox to an Oriole uniform, but he's still counted upon to be a handyman. He's ticketed for duty at third, second and first at Baltimore by Manager Paul Richards. Billy slammed 7 hits, 3 for extra bases, in his first 16 trips for Baltimore. . . . Jim Greengrass, the Atlanta, is hitting in fifth slot for Sacramento. . . . George (Babe) Ruth, 21-year-old outfielder named for guess who, broke into organized ball with Horrell, N.Y., in the New York-Pennsylvania League, with a home run in his first time at bat. He lashed a two-run job in the first inning against Elmira. The count was, naturally, 3 and 2. He's 5-10, 180 and bats right-handed, was signed by Cincinnati after graduation from U. of Cincinnati. . . . He played football and runs the 100 in 9.8. Came from Parkersburg, W.Va., now lives at Reidsville, Ohio.

Jim Busby, Johnson Beat A's

Homer, 3-Hitter Blank KC, 1-0

BALTIMORE, June 26 (AP)—Jim Busby continued his hot batting streak for the Baltimore Orioles tonight, hitting a fifth inning homer for the only run as Connie Johnson blanked the Kansas City Athletics 1-0 on three hits.

The shutout was the third straight by Baltimore pitching as the Orioles won their seventh victory in nine starts and climbed to within 1½ games of fifth-place Boston.

Busby has hit over .320 for Baltimore since being obtained from Cleveland in a trade on June 11. He has hit safely in his last nine games with 14 hits in 34 tries for a .412 average.

Johnson struck out four, two in both the sixth and ninth innings, and didn't walk a batter as he evened his season's record at 6-6.

New Yorkers Seek Franchise In National

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—A civic group, headed by George V. McLaughlin, Brooklyn banker and former director of the Dodgers, has applied for a franchise in the National League with the intention of locating in Queens, a borough of New York City.

The group also has applied to the Board of Estimate for construction of a 50,000 seat stadium to be located in Flushing Meadows, on the old world fair site. The team would be known as the New Yorkers.

McLaughlin, a former New York police commissioner, told a press conference today he had made this formal application in a letter to Warren Giles, president of the National League, two days ago.

Cards' Hampton Hurls No-Hitter

Jimmy Hampton hurled the Hapeville Babe Ruth League's first no-hitter of the season Wednesday night as the Cardinals shut out the Tigers, 7-0.

Hampton struck out 10 batters, walked three, hit one and faced 26 men in the seven-inning game.

Nichols Nips Seeded Star

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 26 (AP)—Bob Nichols of Atlanta, a Georgia Tech varsity player, was the lone winning Georgian here today in the Tennessee Valley Invitational Tennis Tournament.

Nichols, playing in the second round of the men's singles, defeated Roger Werksman, Los Angeles, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5. The latter was seventh seeded.

New Singles (second Round)—Paul Winters, Texas, defeated Bill Hardcastle, Atlanta, 6-2, 6-0. Armando Viera, Brazil, defeated Larry Thompson, Atlanta, 6-3, 6-1.

Women's Singles (second Round)—Janet Hanner, Baton Rouge, La., defeated Barbara Hanner, Atlanta, 6-3, 6-0.

Junior Men's Singles (18-under, Third Round)—Norm Martin defeated Hardcastle, Atlanta, 6-2, 6-1. Clayton Nabors defeated George York, Atlanta, 6-0, 4-2. Hugh O'Malley Jr., Chattanooga, defeated Rudy Conner, Atlanta, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Boys' Singles (15-under, Second Round)—John Evans, Louisville, defeated Holden Thompson, Atlanta, 6-4, 6-1.

Klein Says No Pennant ---Without More Help

Manager Lou Klein has said his Memphis Chicks will have to be beuffed up with some new players if they are going to win the Southern Assn. pennant.

"Unless we get three new players of Southern League ability, I'm not going to pick my team to win the pennant," Klein said.

For some time, the Chick front office has been in the market for another right-handed hitting outfielder, a catcher and a pitcher.

Only relief pitcher Bill Darden and infielder Bob McKee have been added to the Memphis roster since the season started.

MORE BASEBALL: Right-hander Evello Hernandez, termed a pitcher with a "blow 'em down fast ball," is being sent to the Chattanooga Lookouts by the Washington Senators. . . . Baltimore Orioles have signed Milton Pappas, 18-year-old 1956 winner of the Ki Ki Cuyler American Legion player award, to a non-bonus major league contract. He's a pitcher-outfielder. . . . Washington has called up pitcher Jim Niese from Midland, Tex., (Class B Southwestern). His record at Midland is 2-2. . . . The Detroit Tigers were luncheon guests Wednesday of Sen. Potter (R-Mich.).

The House antitrust subcommittee investigating pro sports has received figures indicating major league baseball clubs had control of 5,440 players at the end of last season. Brooklyn topped the list with 548 players.

TENNIS—Bill Talbert, coach of the U.S. Davis Cup team, had been named captain and coach of the Lawn Tennis Assn.'s Junior Davis Cup squad. . . . Tom Brown, attorney and San Francisco tennis star, and Robin Whitelaw, an airline hostess, were married last week friends have learned.

HORSE RACING—Greek Spy won the $57,200 Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs by a length. Illusionist was second and Tick Tock third. . . . Fred W. Hooper's Alhababa nosed out Rockmore Farm's Leather Button in a photo finish to capture the $17,750 Primer Stakes at Arlington Park. Reilly S. W. was third. . . . Ballymoss won the Irish Derby at Dublin, Ireland, defeated Hindu Festival by four lengths. . . . George D. Widener's Jester won the 10th running of the $35,840 colt division of the National Stallion Stakes at Belmont Park.

THAT BIG ONE MAY BE WORTH MONEY, CHECK BEFORE EATING

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

Every time you throw a lure or a bit of natural bait into the water, there is a chance that you might hang it into a world record fish of one kind or another, and get your name in the record books, along with prizes and a truck load of tackle and other fishing merchandise the manufacturers will send to you. So before you eat that largest fish this summer, weigh and measure it, and if you think it's large enough to place you in a hero role, get the vital statistics attested.

Almost everyone knows the story of how George Perry caught the world record bass out of a Georgia lake. George was fishing with an artificial lure, but it was during one of those hungry periods in the early 1930s and he was as much interested in meat as he was in the sport of landing a fish.

He got his only strike of the day just as he was paddling toward the landing. He fought his lunker down, put it in his truck and stopped by Jacksonville, Georgia on his way home, to buy some corn meal for hush-puppy mix. The fishermen around the local store practically had to hold him to make him have his bass weighed and certified. The Post Office scales said 22 1/2 pounds, and George went his way, grumbling at the delay.

His record has stood for a quarter of a century. When it was published, he received more tackle and fishing gadgets than he'd ever seen before in his life. They changed him from a farmer to a fisherman, and he's on the Georgia coast today, running a boat dock for his livelihood.

Cliff Wilson told me about a Florida fellow who bought a cabin on Blue Ridge Lake, in Fannin County. He stopped by Wilson's boat dock.

"I never fished in fresh water before," he said. "Tell me how."

He showed Cliff his tackle. The smallest piece he owned was a light sailfish rod. Cliff rigged it for him with a cork, lead and hook and gave him a dozen large shiners, showing him how to hook one under the dorsal fin to keep it alive.

The Floridian put himself in business. He set the stage with an easy chair, an umbrella and lemonade stand on his dock, threw out his shiner and settled down with a good book. When he looked up, his cork was gone. He dragged in his fish on the sailfish rod and carried it, flopping up to his cabin.

"It may be one of those 'rough fishes,'" his wife said. "Better ask Cliff if we'll get poisoned on it."

The cabin owner chopped off its head and tail, cleaned it and hauled it down to the Wilson dock for identification.

"It was the biggest bass anyone ever caught out of this lake," Cliff told me, dabbing at the tears in his eyes. "The mutilated piece of fish he brought to me weighed twelve pounds. The whole bass must have gone at least seventeen or eighteen."

A big fish of any species is worth money. Don't eat it, chop it up or even dress it before you know what you've got. It could be a straight line between you and the fishing hall of fame.

NCAA Co-Medalist Upset In First-Round Match

Simmons Loses to George, 4 and 3, While Rubendall Edges Clark, 2 and 1

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 26 (AP)—Co-medalist Warren Simmons of Syracuse was spilled in a first-round surprise and the luck of the draw pitted together the finalists of the 1955 tourney in the 60th annual NCAA golf championships today.

Simmons, suffering from an allergy and a 31-mile per hour wind that raked the mountainous Broadmoor course, lost to Ernie George, San Jose State, 4 and 3.

Wisconsin's Robert Rubendall, who tied Simmons for medalist honors in qualifying with a 142, also found a stiff test in San Jose's Jim Clark but won, 2 and 1, to advance to the second round of the four-day meet.

The 64-man field was halved today in the first round of the tournament which ends Saturday.

Rubendall's success and victories by John Garrett of Rice and little Joe Campbell of Purdue tabbed the lower bracket as the one to watch. Campbell, 5 and 4 winner over Houston's Stan Binion, and Garrett, who needed 19 holes to beat Stanford's Ron Lucetti, 1-up, met in the finals of the 1955 NCAA tourney at Knoxville, Tenn. Campbell won, 3 and 2.

Bobby Shave was only Florida State member to survive Wednesday's first round. Bob beat Tom Brown, SMU, 1-up. Seminole Harry Shoemaker, who won the National left-handed golf crown for the second straight year last week in Dallas, Texas, and Bobby Shelton, were ousted. Jerry Pittman, SMU, beat Shoemaker, 1-up, while Shelton lost to Rickey Baird, Fresno State, 2 and 1.

Bobby Brue, University of Miami, dropped his first round match to Bill Redding, Purdue, 2-up.

Duilio Loi Defeats Dutch Champ

MILAN, June 26 (AP)—European Piet Van Klaveren in a 10-round lightweight champion Duilio Loi non-title bout at the Vigorelli Velodrome of Italy defeated Dutch champion odrome tonight.

Bobby Boyd Gets Split Decision Over Castellani in 10-Rounder

Scrap Continued After Final Bell

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—Youthful Bobby Boyd plodded to a split decision over veteran Rocky Castellani in a dull 10-round middleweight bout at the Chicago Stadium tonight. The official vote was roundly booed by a small, but noisy crowd.

Although Referee Bernie Weissman had to separate the two fight-ers after the closing bell, there was nothing even resembling a knockdown in the nationally televised match. The 30-year-old Castellani, 7-5 underdog, from Cleveland, seemingly delivered the bout's hardest shots, especially in the sixth and ninth rounds.

However, the 23-year-old Boyd, of Chicago, recovered strongly each time and did what little forcing there was in the bout.

Referee Weissman voted for Boyd, 47-45. Judge Jim McManus called it for Castellani, 47-43. The

Dahlongega Tops Atlanta Legion

Special to The Constitution
DAHLONGEGA, June 26—Left-hander Kenneth Jenkins fanned 17 batters and allowed only three hits to pitch Dahlongega's American Legion team to a 5-3 victory over Atlanta Post One here Wednesday.

Dahlongega collected three runs in the first inning on a pair of walks, two singles and a hit batsman. The winning two runs came in the seventh, on an error, base on balls and a single. Ronnie Osborne led the hitting with a pair of singles.

24 Nations Ask Session Of U.N. on Hungary Case

Group Agrees That Assembly Should Meet Before Schedule

By KATHLEEN TELTSCH
(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., June 26—Twenty-four nations agreed today that the General Assembly should be called "as soon as practicable" to take up the indictment of Soviet policy in Hungary made by a United Nations fact-finding committee.

The word "practicable" was understood to mean some time before the opening of the regularly scheduled 12th assembly session Sept. 17.

The unanimous decision was announced by Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. delegate, after a closed-door strategy session of the nations, which co-sponsored the Assembly move last January to set up the committee of inquiry. Lodge had called the group together to consider how best to follow up the 150,000-word report presented last week by the U. N. investigators.

The report found that the Soviet Union had used military force to overthrow the legal government of Premier Imre Nagy and had installed instead the Moscow-controlled administration of Janos Kadar.

Although Australia and some others have sought an earlier assembly session, apparently most members preferred to hold off until the issue could receive a full-scale airing at a meeting that probably would be attended by foreign ministers and other ranking officials.

Lodge said the U. S. was "definitely in favor" of giving special assembly consideration to the report, which he called a monumental work of great historic significance.

Among the considerations that weighed in the decisions apparently was the reluctance of some powers to make any move that would upset the East-West disarmament talks in London. Also, there was some concern that, if a midsummer assembly was called, Arab and Asian nations would insist on discussing Algeria and other questions might also be proposed for full debate.

Equally important was the feeling of many diplomats that there was little that the assembly could do at this time to correct Soviet crimes against the Hungarians that were revealed by the committee's inquiry.

As spokesman for the 24 nations, Lodge said all agreed that the Hungarian report should be considered as soon as possible and with regard to the "interests of the Hungarian people and the issues involved."

Tuskegee Call For Boycott Irks Mayor

TUSKEGEE, Ala., June 26 (U)—The mayor of Tuskegee said today the call for a Negro boycott of unfriendly white merchants is "quite a source of worry to us."

Mayor Phil Lightfoot said the town square of this little educational center was full of cars during the day and Negroes thronged the streets as usual. But "they're probably not trading," he said.

REACTION NOT KNOWN
Negro leaders who called for the boycott last night said they had had no opportunity to observe the reaction by their race.

The boycott call was issued in retaliation to a legislative act that cuts Negro residential areas out of Tuskegee. It would almost completely eliminate Negro voters from city elections, in which they now hold 40 per cent of the ballots.

The act cleared the Alabama Legislature in Montgomery last Friday without an opposing vote and is expected to become law shortly.

Lightfoot said Negroes were in town as usual, "a flock of 'em" appearing on the streets. "They might have just come down to cash their checks," he said, "and they're probably not trading. But we really can't tell yet."

70 PER CENT NEGRO
The 6,500 residents of Tuskegee at present are about 70 per cent Negro.

Lightfoot said there was "no more reaction than you'd expect" among white residents to last night's church meeting. At it Negroes were urged not to patronize unfriendly merchants.

"A lot of things they said there were untrue," Lightfoot said, without specifying which remarks he meant.

"This is quite a source of worry to us. It's distressing to me personally because I like to work with everyone and I hate to see anyone not liking his neighbor," Lightfoot continued.

Belly-Dancing Cairo

Forbids Rock 'n' Roll

CAIRO, June 26 (U)—Egypt has banished rock 'n' roll from the land of the belly dance. The chief of the police morals squad held today the widely popular music and dance craze from America is a menace to public morals. He ordered all hot spots to ban it.

One prospering night club proprietor moaned: "Imagine barring rock 'n' roll but allowing the belly dance's wiggles and gyrations."

Harbor Corpse Is Ruled Missing Frogman

CHICHESTER, England, June 26 (U)—A coroner ruled today that a headless and handless body found in Chichester harbor was that of Cmdr. Lionel (Buster) Crabb, British frogman who disappeared from Portsmouth while a Russian cruiser was anchored there in April, 1956.

Coroner G. F. L. Bridgman said the decomposed state of the body made it impossible to determine the cause of death and he would have to return an open verdict.

He identified the body on the basis of physical characteristics and the frogman suit in which it was clothed.

Crabb, 46, a World War II hero, registered in a Portsmouth hotel during the visit to Britain of Soviet leaders Nikita Khrushchev and Nikolai Bulganin. The Russians later protested they saw a frogman swimming near the new-type Soviet cruiser Ordzhonikidze. Crabb's disappearance gave rise to a series of unconfirmed reports that he was swimming around the cruiser on a secret mission and that the Russians had captured him and taken him to the Soviet Union. There was no official word on his fate, however, until the coroner's ruling today.

Mrs. Margaret Elaine Crabb, the frogman's divorced wife, testified today he had a "hammer" which supplied Crabb with his toe deformity and small feet like those of the corpse.

A representative of the firm identical with that sold Crabb.

Pastors See No Changes In Merger

Atlanta Congregational Christian ministers do not foresee any changes in the policies and practices of their local churches as a result of the merger of the Congregational Christian churches with the Evangelical and Reformed Church into the United Church of Christ.

Dr. Thomas Anderson, pastor of Central Congregational Church, in a letter to his congregation said actions of the meeting "will not abrogate or impair any of the freedoms, rights and privileges which have been cherished by us as Congregationalists."

NAME

Dr. Anderson said that the name of the local church would not be changed, but that the words "Affiliated With the United Church of Christ in America" could be added by vote of his church.

There are three other Congregational Christian churches in Atlanta. There are about 1,500 Congregationalists in the city.

The Rev. Homer C. McEwen, pastor of the 600-member Negro First Congregational Church, said that the merger is significant because: 1. "It is the initial effort at unification of two churches of unsimilar background and origin."

2. "It gives witness to the oneness of the Christian task of bringing men to Christ."

BACKGROUND

Both ministers pointed out that the Evangelical and Reformed Church is of Germanic and European background and utilizes a form of government similar to that of the Presbyterian church, while Congregational Christian churches have an Anglo-Saxon background and use an autonomous form of government similar to that of the Baptists.

The other two Congregational Christian churches here are Center church, the Rev. James T. McAdams, pastor.

There are no Evangelical and Reformed Churches in the Atlanta area.

238 Georgians At Kiwanis Convention

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 26 (AP)—A total of 238 delegates and their wives from 65 of the 110 Kiwanis Clubs in Georgia are attending the 42nd annual Kiwanis International convention. They are headed by Dr. R. Glenn Reid Jr. of Marietta, district governor.

The Thomasville club achieved top attendance honors with 10 delegates, followed by LaGrange and Thomaston with nine each and Newnan with eight.

The top international achievement award for clubs of under 30 members went to the Rockmart club. The Cairo club received international honorable mention for clubs numbering between 46 and 70 members.

District Secretary De Armand Carter of Thomaston said Georgia Kiwanis membership has reached the record number of 6,300 members. Seven new clubs have been added this year from the metropolitan Fulton County area, Roswell, Lavonia, Greenville, Atlanta and a second club at Marietta.

Sergeant at arms for the International convention is Warren N. Coppedge of Rome.

Girl, 13, Missing 5 Days, Parents Ask Aid in Hunt

Sally Whitfield, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kavo Whitfield, 101 LaFayette Dr., N.E., has been missing from home since last Saturday, her father said Wednesday in asking aid of police in the search.

"She is five feet and seven and weighs 160," her father said. "She looks more like she were 18 than just 13." Sally left home Saturday afternoon to go to a movie, was supposed to meet her grandmother at a downtown restaurant for dinner Saturday night, but never did appear, authorities were told.

Mrs. Whitfield has been prostrate and under sedation since the child's disappearance, Whitfield said.

Whitfield asked anyone knowing Sally's whereabouts to call the police department.

Fire Destroys Atlanta Home

A four-room frame house at 233 Whiting St., N.W., was destroyed by fire Wednesday morning, police said. Assistant Fire Chief C. C. Styron Jr. said cause of the fire is unknown.

Police said the owners, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Robinson, were away from home when the fire broke out.

Let's Go Marketing

Fruit Choice Is Peachy Now

Everything's peachy in Georgia now. The first varieties of the peach season, which reaches a peak in mid-July and continues through August, are hitting the market in large quantities.

That's the latest word from Mrs. Betty Alexander, local food marketing expert, on what to fill your market basket with this week.

When making your selection, look for peaches with a creamy background or a color that is only slightly green. They should be well developed in size and shape and the flesh should be firm and free from blemishes.

USE RIPEST FIRST

Fresh peaches should be sorted and the ripest used first. It's a good idea to place the ripe fruit in a flat pan, one layer deep, to prevent excessive bruising. To prevent rapid deterioration, store in the refrigerator.

If peaches are a little green, leave them to ripen at room temperature, away from direct heat or sunlight.

Watermelons and cantaloupes are arriving on the market from local sources with price tags designed to entice the budget-minded shopper. Lime and lemon supplies are larger, with lower prices. Soft fruits, such as plums, nectarines, cherries, white and red grapes and apricots are arriving from California.

SALAD VEGETABLES

A good choice of salad vegetables will be available in stores this week. Radishes, cucumbers, green peppers and onions are of excellent quality with prices attractive to consumers. Georgia okra, green beans, butterbeans and Crowder peas are increasing in quantity and will be cheaper this week.

Lettuce quality is improving and prices are somewhat lower. Potatoes and tomatoes will be good values this week.

With chicken taking to the backyard grill, fryers offer a lot for your food dollar. Turkeys are plentiful and will be featured at some stores. In eggs, large Grade A continues to be the best value.

HAM

Ham is the outstanding meat buy this week. Smoked pork prices are lower than those of a year ago.

Luncheon meats, ideal for time-saving meals, offer a lot for your money.

Beef prices remain about the same. Ground beef, round steak and chuck roast will be good values.

Ice cream is a summertime favorite and will be featured at some stores. Milk and other dairy products remain stable in quality and price.

LISTENING TO MUSIC IS A FAVORITE PASTIME OF THIS COUPLE
John and Joyce Zaccaro Select a Record From Their Collection

Bride at Emory Is 'Most Happy'

By AGNES GAINES

A "corn-fed Nebraska farm girl" who made good on Broadway has given up her singing career for the role of the wife of a graduate student at Emory University.

And, according to Mrs. Joyce Zaccaro, this is one role that won't play out at the end of the season.

When John and Joyce first met in New York, Joyce (who was Joyce L. Foss then) was singing in the chorus of "The Most Happy Fellow."

John was helping a friend handle a publicity stunt for a camera show in which Joyce appeared for the musical, wearing a huge banner proclaiming her "The Most Happy Fellow."

"THE MOST"

"All I saw at first was 'The Most,'" John laughed, "and I thought, boy, she sure is."

After a whirlwind 17-week courtship, the couple married and came to Atlanta.

They are celebrating their 18th anniversary now — 18 days, that is.

Joyce has no regrets about the career she has given up. She has no plans to go back into the field professionally, although she is still interested in music.

"I'm a housewife now," she said, "it's still too new to do anything else."

"THREE FOR TONIGHT"

She appeared in the vocal chorus of "Three for Tonight," another Broadway production. Before that she did commercials and TV work in California. She was at one time a member of the Rougettes, a television quintet, and has done some church singing. But her primary interest is in the legitimate theater.

John had been teaching at McBurney prep school when the couple decided to migrate south. Although he had majored in history at Brandeis University, he decided to get his master's degree in sociology.

They chose Emory because, John said, "I've always gone to school in New England and decided I needed a change. A friend mentioned Emory. I looked into it and liked it."

John, who is also a writer, says Joyce has been extremely helpful, both with his home work and his writing, which is mainly historical fiction and poetry.

"I like to talk my stories," the tall, good-looking New Yorker said. "Joyce takes it down in shorthand and then types it."

LOT OF LISTENING

She does a lot of listening, too, he said, when he airs his theories.

Brown-haired Joyce has worked with such Broadway stars as Hiram Sherman, Marge and Gower Champion, Art Lund and Robert Weede.

Although John plans to continue his writing, he says he will never give up teaching. It's too much of an enjoyment.

He hopes to teach on a part-time basis, probably at some college.

Joyce is not the only member of this family who finds the stage a familiar place. John has spent some time behind the footlights. He is interested in acting and has worked with summer stock companies. He also has written some plays.

Both are movie and music fans. They have an extensive record collection, which includes a motley of pop tunes, jazz, classical and semi-classical. Tchaikovsky, Rimsky Korsakov, Nelson Riddle and Mitch Miller are favorites of the couple.

The Zaccaros have taken a basement apartment at 570 CH.

WAITRESS FINDS HER PROFESSION FUN AND PROFITABLE
Mrs. Christine Kitchens Hands Menu to W. T. Dean; R. N. Philip Is at Left

Waitress Likes Pay, People, Finds Hours a Bit Unhappy

By MARGARET McLEMORE

When Christine Kitchens came to Atlanta from Cartersville to take a business course, she became a waitress to help pay her way.

She enjoyed her job so much, and made so much money, she quit the business course and has been a waitress ever since — 13 years.

"Some people turn up their noses at my occupation," said Mrs. Kitchens, a trim blue-eyed brunette. "It's been her experience, though, that the percentage of her coworkers who tend to 'give the profession a bad name' is no higher than in any other professional group."

ADVANTAGES

Like all professions, waiting tables has advantages and disadvantages. She feels the advantages decidedly outweigh the disadvantages.

The advantages? "Routine clerical work would bore me. . . I'm not cooped up in an office seeing the same people every day. . . Every day is different for a waitress because there are always new faces and personalities," she explained. Mrs. Kitchens also has the month of July off every year.

The disadvantages? "The hours," she replied quickly. Mrs. Kitchens, who works at a well-known downtown restaurant, has the split shift—10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. "Therefore, I'm not with my family as much as I like," she said.

LITTLE LEISURE

She is married to Harry M. Kitchens, whom she has known since she was 14. Their three children are Sheila, 2, and 11-year-old Harry Jr., first baseman of the Braves in the Little League. Because of her job, Mr. and Mrs. Kitchens have a maid who "lives in" at their handsome two-year-old home on Nesbit drive.

Often Mrs. Kitchens drives home during her afternoon break to be with Sheila. She also uses this "free time for shopping."

"Once we have our home completely furnished the way we want it, I plan to quit work," Mrs. Kitchens said.

When she does, her regular customers will be saddened. "Christine is always in a good humor," according to them.

Before she quits, however, Mrs. Kitchens, who doesn't begin to look her 34 years, hopes she will be able to erase her pet peeve against customers.

"Nothing infuriates a waitress more than to approach a table, pencil and pad in hand, and be completely ignored while everyone talks," she reported.

And ladies, heed this. She volunteered that men are much easier to please. "They're not as concerned with their diets, and don't change their orders or ask for substitutes as much as women do," she said. "They're more considerate, too," she added.

Any wolves among the men customers? "I'm glad you asked," she replied. "It takes two to tango, and I, therefore, haven't had any trouble. Seriously, men who flirt are rare in a nice restaurant. I've only worked in nice ones, so I really don't know," she concluded.

Mrs. C. H. King Jr.

Windisch, King Vows Solemnized

At an afternoon ceremony solemnized at Christ Church, Greenwich, Conn., Miss Helen Amanda Windisch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Windisch of Greenwich, became the bride of Charles Hilary King Jr., son of Mrs. Russell G. D'Oench of Salisbury, Conn., and Charles H. King of Atlanta.

The Rev. Dr. Robert Appleyard officiated at the service which was followed by a reception at the Windisch home.

The bride's twin sister, Miss Katrina Windisch, was her maid of honor, and another sister, Mrs. William D. Sherrerd III, was matron of honor.

The 12 bridesmaids included the bridegroom's sister, Emily King.

Woodbridge A. D'Oench was best man for his stepbrother.

The bride attended Vassar after her graduation from Miss Porter's School. She is a provisional member of the Junior League.

Mr. King was graduated this month from Yale where he was a member of the Fence Club. He is a member of the Racquet and Tennis Club of New York.

Patio Pants, Tops For Entertaining

Country living and country entertaining goes outdoors for the summer, weather permitting, of course. It centers around terrace, patio or swimming pool or a good old back yard! All of these call for informal casual clothes and I think the perfect choice are what we call "patio" pants and tops.

Usually these are in colorful gay prints or in equally gay plain colors. The pants are usually fitted somewhere below the knee. The tops may be anything from bareback halters to very feminine low-necked blouses with big puffed sleeves.

Cupid Makes a Match: Nurse, 62; Patient, 54

By ELIZABETH MORGAN
Dan Cupid turned up in Crawford Long Hospital last spring and shot a nurse and her patient full of love.

Finding young Mr. Cupid in a hospital is nothing new, except that this time he gave his treatment to 62-year-old Miss Genie Fincher and 54-year-old Henry J. Maddox.

Miss Fincher, one of Atlanta's best known private duty nurses, took good care of Mr. Maddox for three days. When he got out of the hospital, he asked her to go to church with him. She accepted, and afterwards, a bit breathless, this is what she confided to her sister, Mrs. J. K. Williams Sr.: "I guess he must have enjoyed it...he asked me to go to church next Sunday."

FIRST WEEK IN MAY
"That was the first week in May," said Mrs. Williams—herself a bit breathless—"and the next thing I knew she was wearing a diamond." On June 6 the love-struck nurse called up her sister and said the wedding date was set for Friday, June 28.

She especially wanted a church wedding, but it seemed foolish to decorate a church for a brief ceremony when very few guests were expected. Then the news started traveling, and before long friends, former patients, and anonymous sentimentalists were planning to attend the affair.

The wedding will take place at 7:30 p.m. in Inman Park Methodist Church. Signed Mrs. Williams, "Now we're not sure the church will hold everybody." It seats 350.

WHITE AND WISPY

The wedding dress had to be white and wispy, too, for Miss Fincher has never before been married. Made of nylon, the dress is ballerina-length with a tucked bodice and a lace jacket. This is the second marriage for the bridegroom-to-be.

Brother Bill Fincher, an All-American football player at Georgia Tech in 1920 and later a line coach there, will give the bride away.

But most exciting of all, Mrs. Gene Williams Nichols—the piece that Miss Fincher brought into the world 25 years ago—will be her matron of honor. Mrs. Nichols is the daughter of Mrs. Williams. Miss Fincher acted as midwife when the doctor didn't arrive in time for the delivery.

BRIDESMAID
Mrs. Annie Laura Williams Weaver, 26-year-old sister of the matron of honor, will be Miss Fincher's only bridesmaid.

Lowell Aiken will stand as best man for the groom, who is an employee of the Atlanta Venetian Blind Co. Ushers will be J. K. Williams Sr., the bride's brother-in-law; J. N. Weaver, husband of the bridesmaid; Joseph J. Nichols of Augusta, husband of the matron of honor; J. K. Williams Jr., nephew of the bride; George Flynn and James Berry. The men will wear light suits.

Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Ann Powell, sister of the groom, will act as hostesses at the reception in the church fellowship hall. The Rev. Harry Mitcham will officiate.

Mrs. Williams said families of both parties are terribly excited. "It came like a bolt out of the blue" for all of them. The couple will move into Miss Fincher's three-room apartment on Josephine street for the time being.

Mrs. Williams said of her

Three Steps to a new figure

1. Mrs. Mildred Hoy took her first step toward a new figure when she called her Stauffer Home Plan representative. Her goal was a loss of 35 pounds and a total of 22 inches.
2. She began her Stauffer Home Reducing program on October 3, 1956 and had her first wonderful results from Stauffer's "lying down" exercise and caloric reduction within 1 week!
3. 2½ months later, Mrs. Hoy had lost 32½ pounds and 21 inches from her overall measurements... only 2½ pounds and 1 inch short of her goal!

Truly successful reducing, as Mrs. Hoy will testify, combines effortless exercise with a modified diet. The famous Stauffer Home Plan. Is all this and more!

"Sending Three Girls to College Won't Be a Problem with Savings in the Bank!"

"I don't know which are growing faster," says Mrs. A. C. Black of 2659 Council Bluff Drive, N.E., "the savings or the girls!"

"Several years ago, when we moved to Atlanta, we immediately opened a savings account with First National for educating our children. Not a minute too soon, we think! Because in addition to the practical expenses, girls seem to need so many extras—like clothes, trips home and so on.

"We're naturally delighted now that First National has upped the interest rate to 3%. In fact, everything about First National pleases us—and our girls will have a lot to thank The Man With a Plan for when they grow up!"

The Man With a Plan knows how hard it is to save; but he also knows—as does Mrs. Black—that saving is a fine family idea. That is why he is always proud to help savers—people who are looking ahead.

Miss Bell Is Bride of Mr. Wade

After a honeymoon in Hendersonville, N.C., Leo J. Wade and his bride will be in Athens, where the bridegroom is a student at the University of Georgia. This fall the couple will move to Augusta, where he will be a student at the Georgia Medical School.

Mrs. Wade is the former Miss Joyce Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bell of Forsyth.

The marriage was solemnized at St. Albans Episcopal Church in Elberton. The Rev. William A. Yon performed the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a short gown of Chantilly lace over satin trimmed with seed pearls.

Dr. Carey A. Mickel Jr. was the best man. Ushers were Curtis Bell, brother of the bride, and Walter Carlisle.

Miss Katrina Hartman Weds Thomas Ripley

Thomas Alexander Ripley Jr. and his bride, the former Katrina Hartman, are honeymooning at Sea Island, following their marriage which was solemnized at a late afternoon ceremony held Wednesday at St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Wilson Sneed was the officiant. After the service, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Yancey were hosts at a reception for the bride couple at their home on Peachtree Battle avenue.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Enos S. Hartman, was given in marriage by her father. She chose for her marriage a gown of tulle and Chantilly lace, which she wore with an illusion veil attached to a cap of matching lace.

Miss Joyce Calhoun was maid of honor for the bride, and bridesmaids were Misses Harriet Baird, Judy Brantley, Donna Foster, Virginia Nichols, and Mrs. William C. Warren III, all of Atlanta.

George Abbott of Asheville, N.C., was best man for Mr. Ripley. His groomsmen included Earle Bortell, Richard Bohne, William Casell, Jefferson Davis and William C. Warren III, all of Atlanta.

Shares Lowest in 3 Months, Decline Laid to Vacations

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—An early advance was erased by the stock market today as volume dwindled to the lightest in nearly three months.

The market's initial rise was a follow-through from yesterday's technical rebound but prices gradually turned irregular. Selling near the close put the list definitely in the downside.

Volume of only 1,870,000 shares compared with 2,000,000 yesterday and was the smallest since April 4. The decline in turnover was normal in view of the vacation season which is just about starting, brokers said.

BUDGET FUNDS RESTORED
Aircraft rallied late in the day on news that a Senate Appropriations subcommittee voted to restore about a billion dollars of the 2½ billion cut by the House from the Armed Forces budget. But their gains were trimmed and in some cases cancelled by the close.

There was no other major news to spur the market. On the bearish side, however, there were reports of a boost in commercial paper rates, a decline in scrap iron prices at Chicago and a statement by Treasury Secretary Humphrey that he saw prospects of an easing in inflationary pressures.

AMERICAN EXCHANGE
Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange where volume totaled 730,000 shares compared with 730,000 yesterday. Gainers included Mesabi Iron, Imperial Oil and Brazilian Traction. Among losers were Giant Yellowknife, Croire Petroleum and Kaiser Industries.

Corporate bonds declined in moderate trading.
U.S. government bonds were irregular in over the counter dealings.

Lint Rallies Near Gong

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—Cotton futures rallied toward the close today as short covering by professional traders increased and found offerings light. Final prices were 5 to 6 cents a bale higher. Trading was generally slow.

Traders were inclined to wait for fresh crop developments and news from Washington.

Futures spurred up as much as $1.10 a bale at the start today. Buying in part was credited to possible adverse effects on cotton of the hurricane in the Gulf of Mexico headed for Texas-Louisiana coast area. However, there was no follow-through to the demand, and prices backed down under the previous close as commission houses and New Orleans selling increased.

A Memphis spot firm hedge a moderate amount of cotton in nearby October and December. The CCC reported farmers in the week ended June 21 withdrew 30,243 bales of cotton from the loan, leaving a net loan stock of 1956 crop cotton in government hands of 3,829,690 bales.

NEW ORLEANS, June 26 (AP)—Cotton futures advanced here Wednesday on trade buying and short covering. Trading prices were steady 30 cents to 70 cents a bale higher.

Beans Climb, Wheat Stalls

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—The advance in wheat futures was halted today but soybean advances provided the main interest on the Board of Trade.

The strength in soybeans, aided by trade belief the harvest will be late, spread in other pits. Wheat was lower early on profit taking and hedge selling, but steadied somewhat near the close.

September soybeans were the strongest in that pit, with buying largely of a spreading nature in which traders sold deferred months and bought September beans.

There were further rains and reports of crop damage in the Southwestern winter wheat belt. Traders also received word of some flour buying. One large chain baker was reported to have bought requirements of flour for July from Southwestern mills.

However, some chains were reported operating on a hand-to-mouth basis. The quality of the new wheat has been poor.

The bidding:
West Pass North Pass East Pass South Pass
West Pass North Pass East Pass South Pass

Opening lead: Queen of hearts. Today's hand features a combination of cards that arises frequently and yet is misjudged by the most experienced players.

After South's initial response of one spade, North had a close choice for his rebid. He considered that, in decisions of this type, the opening bidder should incline toward the conservative, whereas the responder should lean toward the aggressive. He therefore offered only a single raise, and South had sufficient strength to make another try, a chance which North seized cheerfully.

West opened the queen of hearts and dummy, of course, won with the ace. The queen of spades was then led for the finesse. It was taken in by West, and the time for decision had arrived. The club suit seemed ominously and it appeared that diamonds must be attacked if the contract were to be defeated. If East held a club honor, then two diamond tricks would be needed. If not then the defense must take three diamond tricks. But the question arose, "Which diamond should be led?"

The winning play is the ten. Dummy covers with the jack. East plays the queen, and declarer wins with the ace. After trumps are exhausted, the club finesse is tried. East gets in with the king and a diamond return traps declarer's nine.

If West should, from force of habit, lead a low diamond rather than the ten, dummy will play low and East has no choice but to play the queen. Declarer wins with the ace and is safe against the loss of two diamond tricks, for when the club finesse loses to East, he can do no better than cash one diamond trick for his side.

Similarly, if West leads the high diamond, South wins, and after drawing trumps, takes the club finesse into East, and dummy's jack stops the diamond suit.

Senate Okays Judge

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The Senate today confirmed President Eisenhower's appointment of John Minor Wisdom of Louisiana to a seat on the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals. Wisdom will succeed Wayne G. Borah, retired.

Ollie Reeves A Rhyme a Day

"Added to the glamor of a movie career there is always the possibility of marriage with some man of wealth, which has been accomplished by many of the well-known stars who have little but physical beauty to recommend them."—Movie magazine quote.

"Lives of great men all remind us" . . . men are pretty much the same . . . that is how the women find us . . . that is why they stake a claim . . . on someone who's rich and famous . . . or some poor forgotten man . . . if you doubt it, you may name us . . . one exception, if you can.

Women! some are proud and haughty . . . some are humble as a slave . . . some, you think, are wild and naughty . . . never, never misbehave . . . some so gentle and good-looking . . . that it never once occurs . . . to you, something may be cooking . . . in that little mind of hers.

Capitalists, doctors, scholars . . . all are working for one end . . . to accumulate the dollars . . . for the simple ones to spend . . . tycoons, scientists and actors . . . all are waiting "to be had" . . . and, considering these factors . . . women haven't done too bad.

New Stay Given Krulls To Allow Ike More Study

George and Michael Krull, convicted of raping a 53-year-old Chattanooga woman, won another stay of execution Wednesday when a federal judge postponed their electrocution until Aug. 9.

U. S. District Judge Frank A. Hooper granted the stays to give President Eisenhower additional time to study the brothers' plea for executive clemency.

They were scheduled to be electrocuted May 9, when Judge Hooper granted a 70-day stay pending an appeal by their attorneys to the President. The 70 days would have expired in two weeks.

Relax Nervous Tension to End Sleepless Nights!

Special, safe sleeping capsule combats this basic cause of insomnia so effectively you not only get the hours of sleep you need, but the kind of sleep—natural, untroubled! Awaken so refreshed, with no "doped" feeling from habit-forming drugs!

Now they've discovered how to combat the basic causes of sleeplessness! And so today— for thousands— those tormenting sleepless nights can be ended! Doctors know, in many cases, failure to sleep is due to nervous tension brought about by worry, overwork, anxiety, frustration. Relieve this nervous tension and sleep comes naturally, safely, quickly. That's exactly what a remarkable sleeping capsule called DORMIN does.

Proved In Hospital Tests! DORMIN contains a special, hospital-tested "tension-reliever"—a safe sedative discovery of medical science. Because of its remarkable action—calms, tension swiftly drifts away! Then—in moments—you drift off to glorious, worry-free sleep! Not only get the regular hours of sleep
